Industry, military cuts idle thousands

Associated Press

Thousands of new layoffs — including more than 40,000 in the auto industry alone — were announced Friday on the heels of a Pentagon move that will eliminate 11,600 civilian jobs at military installations.

The industrial cutbacks were blamed on the continuing coal strike that prompted layoffs by U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel Corp. and on sagging auto sales that have forced reductions in production of new vehicles.

Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. both announced production cuts on Friday; General Motors Corp. announced a cutback on Thursday; and American Motors Corp. said it will suspend production of its Gremlin and Hornet models for five days next month, idling 8,000 workers in the United States and Canada.

The latest auto layoff announcements bring to about 185,000 the number of blue-collar workers who will be idle next month. Thousands of white-collar employes also are being laid off in the face of reports that show new-model sales off 30 per cent from last year. Many of the auto employes will receive most of their salary during the layoff under union contracts.

The coal miners' walkout was blamed for supply shortages that caused U.S. Steel's announcement of the layoff of another 4,300 employes next week and Bethlehem's disclosure that it will idle 2,500 persons.

In Friday's developments:

— Ford Motor Co. said it is cutting production schedules at 11 of 20 North American assembly plants and most of 45 manufacturing plants for one to five weeks between Thanksgiving and March 1. The production cutbacks will force 32,474 employes onto temporary layoffs for between one and five weeks and will trim November-through-March production schedules by 93,900 cars and 33,700 trucks. Ford announced Thursday that 3,000 white-collar workers would be idled indefinitely beginning at the end of this month.

— Chrysler Corp. said it is laying off nearly 11,000 white-collar employes including engineers, designers and clerical workers for five weeks beginning Dec. 2. The announcement confirmed Thursday reports of white-collar layoffs. Company spokesmen declined to give a precise number of the layoffs but said the furloughs would be comparable to the percentage of hourly workers scheduled for six-week layoffs next Wednesday when the company is shutting five of six U.S. car plants and sending home nearly 64,000 blue-collar workers. That is about 60 per cent of its domestic work force. Using the same percentage, nearly 11,000 the firm's 18,000 so-called general salaried employes will be laid off. The nation's number three auto maker has a total white-collar work force of about 39,000 including administrative personnel.

— U.S. Steel, the nation's largest steelmaker, said it will bank additional blast furnaces because of the coal miners' strike. Coke production has been cut in half; iron production has been slashed by 35 per cent. The company, which has about 120,000 production workers throughout the nation, earlier announced layoffs of 13,700 employes.

— Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second largest producer, announced the layoff of 2,300 of the 22,000 employes at the Sparrows Point, Md., plant, effective next week, and said 200 of the 14,500 workers at the Lackawanna, N.Y., complex were being laid off indefinitely. The company said the "uncertain coal situation" forced the closing of a blast furnace at the Lackawanna complex.

U.N. Assembly votes for a Palestine state

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The General Assembly overwhelmingly endorsed creation of a Palestinian state in the Middle East Friday and voted to give the Palestine Liberation Organization a permanent observer status at the U.N.

PLO officials said that while they welcomed the worldwide support in the General Assembly, the organization would not drop its armed struggle.

"Without the military struggle, we would not have achieved what we have," said delegation spokesman Nabil Shaath. "If we now stop on the resolutions, the chances are we will be allowed to sit there and be forgotten. So far we have not liberated one inch of our territory."

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah told the assembly after the vote, "The sun appears to have set on the United Nations."

While Israel declared that a new state for 1.5 million Palestinian refugees would mean the destruction of its own country, the move to grant observer status to the PLO was considered even more far-reaching. Many diplomats felt it opened the way for all freedom movements to gain representation.

The vote on the principal resolution, which backed the right of Palestinian refugees to return to homes "from which they have been displaced and uprooted" by Israel since 1947, was 89-8 with 37 abstentions. The United States and Israel were among the "no" votes.

The resolution did not specify where the Palestinian state should be located or what territory it should include.

The roll call on the second resolution, granting observer status to the PLO, was 95-17 with 10 abstentions.

Tekoah — limited to one major speech in the regular debate — took the rostrum immediately after the vote to denounce the decisions.

"The orgy of hatred and abuse now reaching its climax must raise grave questions about the future destiny of our organization," Tekoah said. "By trampling to dust its own charter, by submitting itself to violence and savagery, by hailing lawlessness, inhumanity and hypocrisy, the United Nations has plunged into an abyss from which there is no exit.

"Just as the demise of the League of Nations began when it bowed to force and aggression, so the sun appears to have set on the United Nations when so many in this debate joined in worshipping the Moloch of murder and international banditry."

Last stop on tour

Ford lands in Russia

By R.H. GROWALD

VLADIVOSTOK, USSR (UPI) — President Ford arrived in this bleak eastern Russian city today for two days of talks with Soviet leaders, the last stop of his Far East tour and his first taste of presidential summitry.

The Siberian temperature was near zero as Air Force One, with Russian navigators aboard, landed at an airport freshly cleared of snow and decorated with a huge sign that said in English: "Welcome President Ford."

Ford, wearing thermal underwear and a heavy blue overcoat, was warmly greeted on the runway by Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid Brezhnev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Though it was their first meeting, Ford and Brezhnev chatted easily about sports in animated conversation on the runway, donned Russian fur hats for photographers, and walked over to have a few words with reporters.

Brezhnev expansively invited reporters to tour the city of Vladivostok, home of the Russian's Pacific fleet and closed to Americans since 1923 and all foreigners since 1938.

Ford said he hoped they would, "and report back to me."

The two leaders, with Gromyko and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, boarded limousines for the short ride, with a brief stop for refreshments, to a brand new seven-car train that was to carry them on a 90-minute trip to the site of their talks, the resort spa of Okeanrkiy.

During the flight of some four hours from Seoul, South Korea, by way of Tokyo to pick up a Russian navigator and a communications expert, Kissinger previewed the forthcoming talks for reporters, calling it a "minisummit."

THREE days of summitry would be compressed into a day and a half of hard talks, Kissinger said, and "I expect it to be a success."

He said Ford would concentrate on urging the Soviet Union to use restraint in its Middle East dealing, on developing guidelines that will produce further progress in the strategic arms limitation (SALT) talks in Geneva next year, and on problems of European security.

Kissinger said he was "optimistic" about further agreements in the 1975 Salt talks, but there would be no agreements reached on this trip beyond ' establishing guidelines.

"I expect it will be all business," said Kissinger, noting that the only social occasion in the two days was a dinner tonight.

Hijack frees terrorists

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Thirteen Palestinian guerrillas were flown in from Cairo early today to meet the demands of three comrades holding 41 hostages aboard a hijacked British jetliner, the official Tunisian news agency reported.

The agency said the prisoners were handed over in Cairo to Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization. They were brought to Tunis in a special Egyptian Airlines flight together with a PLO delegation headed by Abou Ayed, a member of the guerrilla organization's executive committee.

The three hijackers had threatened to execute their hostages one by one unless the 13 men held in Cairo were freed. But the threatened execution was postponed three times by the hijackers.

There also were reports the hijackers demanded release of two Palestinians jailed in the Netherlands.

Tunisian authorities said the Dutch government told them it was ready to release the two prisoners, but there was no indication whether they were en route to Tunis.

Premier Joop den Uyl of the Netherlands said earlier his government had not received any demands directly from the hijackers and was planning no action.

The 13 prisoners brought from Cairo were believed to be eight convicted in Sudan of killing two U.S. diplomats and a Belgian envoy last year and five formerly jailed in Italy for plotting to blow up an Israeli jetliner in Rome.

All were later sent to Egypt, where they have been held "at the disposal" of the PLO, recognized by Egypt and other Arab countries as the only legal authority of the Palestinian people.

Tunisian Interior Minister Tahar Belkhodja, who was in over-all charge of the negotiations with the hijackers, had gone home to rest only an hour before

No fuel hearing delay

Associated Press

The U.S. Interior Department unexpectedly turned down requests for a delay in public hearing on the federal goverment's offshore oil and gas drilling and leasing plans.

The move came as a surprise because it happened almost at the time Los Angeles City Atty. Burt Pines was telling a Friday news conference that Interior Secretary Rogers Morton had agreed to meet with him Monday to discuss a possible delay in the hearings, scheduled for Santa Monica Dec. 2-3.

The government's denial of a delay in the hearings came in telegrams to Gov.-elect Jerry Brown and Pines. They were sent by Roy Hughas, assistant secretary of the interior.

Hughas' telegram almost assures that Los Angeles and 15 other local cities will file suit in Washington, D.C., federal courts to delay the hearings.

Before he knew about the telegrams, Pines told newsmen that Morton had agreed to meet with him, U.S. Sens. Alan Cranston and John Tunney and a representative of Brown in Washington, D.C.

The federal government scheduled the hearings to determine how to proceed with oil and gas leasing and drilling plans off California's coast. However, some state and local officials feel the federal government has already made plans to proceed with oil and gas leasing and drilling operations and that the Santa Monica hearings are nothing but a facade.

State and local officials are seeking to delay the hearings to study a 1,300-page environmental impact report and an 800 page Project Independence study, released recently by the federal government. They claim there would not be enough time to prepare for the hearings if they were held Dec. 2-3.

A spokesman for Brown acknowledged that Brown had received a telegram from Hughas. Informed that the telegrams had been sent, Pines said, "I have no reason to believe that Secretary Morton, in agreeing to a meeting, was not acting entirely in good faith."

Canada to stop oil to U.S.

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government has announced plans to eliminate oil exports to the United States by 1982, starting with a cut of up to 28 per cent by next July.

Energy Minister Donald Macdonald told Parliament the cuts were designed to divert exports to domestic use and avert an oil shortage. One area to benefit will be Montreal, until now dependent on imported oil.

Macdonald said immediate plans called for a reduction in exports to the U.S. from the current level of 900,000 barrels a day to 800,000 by Jan. 1, 1975. He said he would meet with the oil producing provinces to propose cutting exports more sharply — possibly to 650,000 barrels a day by July 1, 1975.

Even if producing provinces do not agree, he said, a new export formula to be used by the National Energy Board would cut exports to 650,000 barrels a day by the end of next year. The formula takes into account how much oil can be produced, domestic demand and estimates of how much oil can be conserved during the year.

Canada is currently the second largest source of oil imported into the U.S. It accounts for about 15 per cent of the total imports, but only between 5 and 6 per cent of total U.S. consumption.

Canadian observers point out that U.S. policy calls for energy self-sufficiency by 1980.

Macdonald said his suggestions for drastic export cuts were based on a government promise to provide 250,000 barrels a day for the Montreal market.

He rejected any immediate cutting off of exports to the U.S., saying: "An immediate halt to exports would be disruptive to Canadian-U.S. trade relations. It would deprive certain northern U.S. refineries and their communities of the Canadian crude oil that they have traditionally relied on."

The U.S. was informed in advance of the change in Canada's export program, he added.

Macdonald said the loss of oil revenue from the U.S. will be partially offset by higher natural gas prices. Earlier this year Canada raised the price of natural gas exports from 60 cents to $1 per thousand cubic feet effective Jan. 1, 1975.

IN A statement issued in New York, the Mobil Oil Co. said the Canadian move "reinforces the urgency with which the U.S. must develop its own resources.

"Until now most people believed that Canada was America's most secure source of foreign oil. So this action by the Canadian government dramatizes the need for us to stop talking and start doing what must be done to ensure that America has the energy it needs."

Queen Mary enters into probe

FBI says more L.B. subpoenas due

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

The FBI investigation into bribery and corruption in Long Beach city government moved into a probe of "remodeling, mooring and leasing" of the Queen Mary and "the relationship between certain members of the city government and business firms," the Independent, Press-Telegram learned Friday.

Meanwhile, FBI agents continued to question various civic and business leaders throughout the city and said at least four more subpoenas were issued Thursday.

Although FBI officials refused to elaborate on developments in their investigation, William Sullivan assistant director of the Los Angeles bureau of the FBI said there were "many facets to the investigation."

"We do have some indications that we will be conducting an ongoing investigation into the Queen Mary operation...and we're still questioning.

"We're not going to be able to say anything right now about this investigation because it's a pending case. However, I'm sure there will be more subpoenas issued," Sullivan said Friday.

City Manager John Mansell, one of the city officials subpoenaed to appear before the specially called Federal Grand Jury Tuesday, said he would "cooperate to the fullest" with FBI officials in their newest investigative phase.

"But it's a known public fact that the Queen Mary has been reviewed in detail not only by the City of Long Beach's auditor, attorney and inspectors, but also by the auditor general, the State Lands Commission, the Legislature, the state attorney general's office and the county district attorney and no evidence of wrongdoing has been discovered."

The FBI spokesman said the investigation by his

Heating-oil curbs to stay voluntary

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON — Although the nation appears in for a hard winter, the conservation of heating oil for homes and businesses will be voluntary rather than imposed, the Federal Energy Administration announced Friday. But the agency stressed that thermostats must be turned down if the system is to work, and mandatory allocations will be ordered if severe shortages occur. Current rules allow enough fuel to heat residences to six degrees below 1972 thermostat settings and commercial buildings to 10 degrees below that level. "It is more necessary than ever for homes to dial down the thermostats," an official said. "The forecast is for a hard winter. Stocks of heating oils are still marginal, although higher than last year."

White House staff change

WASHINGTON — President Ford is considering revamping the White House's congressional relations office and placing it under the overall direction of presidential counselor John Marsh Jr., informed sources said Friday night. Under the plan, Marsh, a former Virginia Democratic congressman, would supervise the operation with Max Freiersdorf as operating head, the sources added. A major unresolved matter is reported to be whether several current presidential aides will remain with the administration or go into private business. Marsh, an old friend of Ford's from their days in the House, joined the White House staff after the former House Republican leader became President.

Mass meningitis vaccination

TRENTON, N.J. — Doctors began innoculation Friday of 13,000 students, employes and faculty members at Trenton State College to halt the possible spread of a spinal meningitis outbreak that already has taken the life of one coed. More than 1,000 persons were vaccinated during the first 90-minutes of the program, which will continue until Tuesday. Professors —who have been on strike at the campus for a week in a wage dispute—waited outdoors with students and workers for up to three hours in 30-degree weather to be innoculated. Meningitis, which is fatal once in every 100 cases, is an inflamation of the tissues surrounding the brain.

Police seize five in British bombings

BIRMINGHAM, England — Police said Friday they have arrested five men suspected of planting Irish Republican Army bombs that killed 19 persons and wounded 184 others in two crowded downtown pubs. The death toll was the highest in the five-year IRA campaign to rid Northern Ireland of British troops and unite it with the Irish Republic. Police said many of the wounded in the Thursday night blasts were in serious condition, some of them badly mangled. The five suspects were seized at Heysham as they attempted to board a ferry boat bound for Belfast. Meantime, Birmingham underwent another scare during the day when a newspaper received an anonymous call that a bomb would explode there in 10 minutes. The downtown building was cleared, but there was no explosion.

'Tired' Tanaka may resign

TOKYO — Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, target of widespread criticism for making a fortune while holding public office, is exhausted and wants to leave office, one of his associates said Friday. Sources in Tanaka's Liberal Democratic Party said the 56-year-old prime minister would step down early next week — when President Ford leaves Asia — and a power struggle is already under way for the succession. Tanaka, prime minister since July 1972, has denied doing anything unscrupulous in businesses he has retained since he became a politician 28 years ago. He is accused of using his influence to make money in land speculation.

Old-time cure back in drugstore–leeches

Combined News Services

A recently posted sign in Sargent's Drug Store in Chicago reads: "Leeches now available here again."

Harvey Snitman, manager of Sargent's, which has been located in Chicago's downtown area since 1852, said "you may be surprised, but that sign is good news to a lot of people"

Leeches, the remedy for black eyes in grandfather's day, have been hit by the inflationary spiral like everything else, They also are getting harder to find. Snitman searched the world leech markets for eight months before succeeding.

"I got this shipment of 100 leeches from a London firm which specializes in hard-to-find items, and I expect it to last about six weeks before I have to reorder," he said.

Four years ago leeches cost $1 each, now they go for $5.

Despite modern medical advances, the ancient therapy of blood-letting employing the blood-sucking leech remains alive, and customers come long distances to buy them.

"We have a man from Iowa who comes in once a month to buy 20 of them," Snitman says. However, there can be problems, he adds.

"A man with a black eye came in last and just couldn't wait until he got home, so he put the leech he bought under he eye. It was a good thing he did because he pulled the leech off too soon and we had to give him first aid for a hemorrhage," he said.

The trick is to let the leech finish the job and then it falls off.

Off the hook

Mr. Jiggs, a chimpanzee charged with "searing the wits" out of a woman, got off the hook Friday when a Freehold, N.J., jury ruled his owner was within his rights when he took the ape to dinner dressed as a Cub Scout.

The jury returned the verdict after deliberated for 75 minutes in a suit brought by Joan Hemmer of Ocean Township, N.J., against Mr. Jigg's's owner, Ronald Winters of Hillsdale.

In charging Winters with negligence, Mrs. Hemmer claimed that she was so frightened by the sight of the chimp in a Emerson, N.J., restaurant on Feb. 27, 1972, that she leaped up and bumped into a wall, injuring a shoulder which had recently undergone surgery.

Winters and Mr. Jiggs went to the restaurant to entertain a party of Cub Scouts at a banquet.

During three days of testimony, Winters testified that Mr. Jiggs was a domesticated animal and had not lived in the jungle since he was six months old. He said the chimp lived in a house and was capable of feeding himself and cleaning his room.

Cavett

Dick Cavett, star of his late-night talk show on ABC-TV since 1969, says he's leaving the network to work for another network next year, an ABC spokesman said Friay in New York.

Cavett, 38, whose current contract with ABC expires Dec. 31, gave no reason for the change, nor did he identify the network for which he now plans to work.

Cavett, who began his show business career as a comedy writer for Jack Paar when the latter was the star of NBC's "Tonight" show, began his 90-minute talk show for ABC in December 1969.

The show initially appeared five nights a week. It was critically acclaimed, but low in the ratings for its time period. In January 1973, ABC cut back on the number of Cavett shows, broadcasting them only one week each month. Last January, the show was cut back again to its current schedule of one show on every two weeks.

Susan Ford has been accepted by Mount Vernon College and will begin attending next fall, a White House spokesman said Friday.

Now a senior at the private Holton Arms School in nearby Bethesda, Md., the President's daughter applied for early admission to Mount Vernon College, a four-year career-oriented liberal arts institution for women in northwest Washington.

In trouble

Henry Wynberg, latest squire of actress Elizabeth Taylor; must stand trial on grand theft charges for allegedly turning back the odometers on four used cars he sold, Huntington Park Municipal Court Judge John Bunnett ordered Friday.

Bunnett ordered the 40-year-old Wynberg to go on trial Dec. 6 in Norwalk Superior Court. He was freed on his own recognizance.

The alleged offenses took place between July 1972 and May 1973 when Wynberg operated an auto brokerage firm which has since gone out of business.

When autos sell for more than $200, rolling back the odometers to make it appear the cars were not used so much constitutes grand theft.

Chairperson

First Lady Betty Ford, recalling that she once underwent psychiatric treatment, has accepted the title of 1975 honorary chairperson for the National Association for Mental Health.

"This is a red-letter day for me," the First Lady said Friday. "As you know."

As a result, Mrs. Ford told about 350 people attending the association's annual meeting here, she is "very grateful to have the opportunity to work for mental health."

Certified

Republican Jay Hammond was certified as the winner Friday in Alaska's tight gubernatorial race where only 365 votes separated Hammond from incumbent Democrat Gov. William Egan.

The certification was announced in Juneau by Lt. Gov. H.A. "Red" Boucher after state canvassers worked late into Thursday night recounting votes. But Boucher didn't rule out the possibility of a recount.

Egan's press secretary, Will Lawson, said the governor hadn't decided yet whether to ask for a recount. The vote difference was less than one-half of one per cent, as Hammond received 45,483 votes and Egan polled 45,118.

Reckless

Police have charged rock star Wilson Pickett Jr. with first-degree reckless endangerment and criminal possession of a dangerous weapon in a shooting incident at an Andes, N.Y., motel where he was staying.

Police said Pickett, who was on a hunting trip with the singing Isley Brothers, fired a bullet from a .38-caliber derringer through the door of a room occupied by the Isley brothers. No one was hit. Pickett was released on $500.

Police said Pickett "evidently had been drinking."

Champ

Anatoly Karpov, a 23-year-old political science student, Friday won the final game of a challengers match in Moscow and gained the right to meet America's Bobby Fischer for the world championship next year.

The all-Soviet match between Karpov and Viktor Korchni ended in a draw, giving Karpov a 3-2 victory in the 24-game series. There were 19 draw games.

To reach the finals, Karpov had to win the international chess tournament, defeating such other chess masters as former world champion Boris Spassky who lost the title to Fischer two years ago.

Flare up

Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau Friday called an opposition member a "son of a bitch" in the House of Commons in Ottawa in angry response to what he believed was a reference to divorce in the Trudeau family.

Trudeau challenged the member, Conservative Harvie Andre, to "step outside" before storming from the House.

Trudeau's young wife Margaret recently said in an interview that she was tired of being a prime minister's wife and anxiously awaited a return to private life.

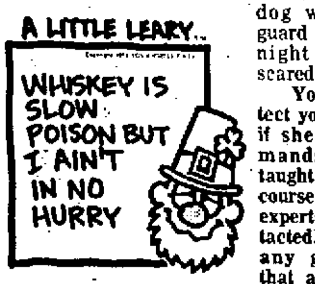
On guard

My Great Dane is almost six months old and I understand this is the best age to teach dogs. Are there inexpensive obedience schools where I can be with my dog while she receives guard dog training? At night I'm alone and scared. S.J.C., Lynwood.



A LITTLE LEARY..
WHISKEY IS SLOW POISON BUT I AIN'T IN NO HURRY

Your dog should protect you against intruders if she learns basic commands and discipline taught in good obedience courses, according to dog experts Action Line contacted. We could not find any guard dog schools that allow owners to remain with their dogs during training. They are expensive and keep the dog for several weeks. For your purposes, enrolling your dog in an obedience course, such as one taught by dog trainer Joe DeBeck, should be adequate. DeBeck offers obedience training year-round in the Long Beach-Lakewood area. The next scheduled classes will meet one night weekly for 10 sessions starting in January. Dog owners are taught how to train their dogs to obey basic commands. The course costs $25 and you must provide a slip chain and 6-foot leather or nylon leash. DeBeckalso holds a semi-private class Saturday mornings at Mayfair Park in Lakewood. You might be able to enroll in it before January. Call DeBeck at 633-3930 for additional information. Locally, the South Bay Sentry Dogs Inc., 2150 W. Cowles St., offers guard dog training. Depending on how aggressive and highly trained you want her to become, a company spokesman estimated they would keep your dog three to eight weeks and it would cost from $150 to $400.

I stored them at Public Storage Inc. on Orangethorpe in Anaheim for about three months and took them out Oct. 1. At that time, I was told I'd get my $15 deposit refunded within 10 days. I haven't received it. I am a widow with four children and we live on a very small income and need that money. I would appreciate any help you can give me. Mrs. S.B., Buena Park.

You should have your $15 right away. Allison Woodruff of Public Storage Inc. checked their files at Action Line's request, and after some confusion — they have another customer with your name — she found they had mailed your refund twice. Each time it came back because of an incorrect address. When a check comes back the second time, she said, they hold the money until the person it belongs to contacts them. We gave them your current address.

Camperships

I am working as a teacher's aid in a sixth grade class in Long Beach. Every year sixth graders in the school district go to camp for a week of outdoor education. Having attended school here myself I know what an exciting and important experience this is for children. However, most of the children's families in my school are on welfare and cannot afford the $19.75 fee for the camp. Does the school district make provisions to help children who can't afford to pay? R.M., Long Beach.

The Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers has a fund for camperships to enable children who cannot afford it to go to the camp, according to a spokesman for the Long Beach Unified School District. He said families who can't afford the fee should inform the school nurse who will contact the council to arrange for the camperships. The camp is the culmination of a concentrated program of science and nature study for students in the fourth through sixth grades. There are two camp sites, Camp Hi-Hill, located in the Angeles Crest National Forest above La Canada, and Camp O-Ongo, located in the San Bernardino Mountains near Running Springs. More than 110,000 students have participated in the camp program since it began in 1948.

Reject

I recently tried to enlist in the Army but was rejected because I was said to have a high tone hearing defect. However, I served as a radio operator in the French Army and performed as well as anyone. I believe there is nothing wrong with my hearing. The Army recruiter said I cannot apply for a waiver since my service option is broadcasting which does not allow for any hearing defect. Is there any way I still could apply for a waiver or would a civilian physician's opinion by valid if I took my case to court? B.A., Long Beach.

There is virtually no way you can request a waiver unless you applied for a field other than broadcasting, according to an Army spokesman. However, you can ask to have your case reevaluated if you are not satisfied with the hearing examination the Army recruiters gave you. Courts do not normally have jurisdiction over Army qualifications for enlistment. A civilian doctor's opinion would certainly be taken into considerationby Army doctors who would make the final decision on your reevaluation.

Suspect in robbery shot by store clerk

A Long Beach market clerk shot and wounded a man who allegedly fled from the market after robbing it Friday, police said.

Officers said Donald Howard Hofer, 26, a transient, was shot once with a .25 caliber automatic pistol by the clerk, David Allen Roy, 27. Hofer allegedly held up the Stop and Go Market at 6620 Atlantic Ave. for $55 about 11 a.m.

Hofer was listed in satisfactory condition in the jail ward of County-USC Medical Center Friday night, after being booked on a robbery charge.

A Highway Patrol officer who was in the area heard the shots, called police, and found Hofer lying on the ground, police said.

Busch lashes Ward for 'baseless accusations'

By NOEL SWANN
Our L.A. Bureau

Dist. Atty. Joseph Busch Friday lashed back at Supervisor Baxter Ward, branding him "a lightweight who conducts government like a second-rate nightly newscast."

Busch made the remark at a press conference in response to charges made by Ward Thursday that Busch could not objectively investigate charges against the sheriff's office because of his friendly association with Sheriff Peter Pitchess.

BUSCH said he felt it necessary to speak out on "these insinuations" and termed the accusations baseless.

"The source of these insinuations is Supervisor Baxter Ward, who is the county's leading exponent of government by accusation," Busch said.

Busch added that when first saw a Ward letter to the grand jury suggesting he might not be objective, he "seriously considered turning the investigation over to the state attorney general's office so that not the slightest aspersion could be cast on the results."

However Busch noted that the same insinuations about his activity could be made about Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger since his relationship with the sheriff "is even more long standing than mine."

ALSO, Busch said, a federal government investigation would not be above suspicion because of the sheriff's involvement with the FBI (Pitchess is a former agent) and other federal law enforcement agencies.

The district attorney said he also felt the insinuations struck at the integrity of his staff. He said the investigators chosen to handle the sheriff's case "are dedicated career law enforcement officers who have not had any dealings with the sheriff or his staff during their law enforcement careers.

"They were specifically selected because of their objectivity."

Because of these reasons, Busch said he felt that handing the investigation over to another agency or a special prosecutor "would be yielding to the most baseless of accusations.

"IT WOULD be a slap in the face to my staff; a tacit admission that I did not have complete faith in their adherence to their oaths of office to fairly and objectively uphold the law," Busch said.

"I will not allow Supervisor Ward to disrupt the processes of justice and law enforcement in this county," he said. "He is frankly a lightweight whose great success in the news media is totally out of proportion to his questionable success as a government official."

Busch stressed that since he has been district attorney he has successfully prosecuted the former County Public Administrator Baldo Kristovich and former County Marshal Timothy Sperl.

"My past association with them did not sway me in the exercise of my duty, and I can assure the people of this county my association with Sheriff Pitchess will not sway my objectivity in this investigation," Busch said.

Busch acknowledged that county government is in need of an overhaul. "But I don't think you overhaul a car by smashing the windows and planting a bomb under the hood. And I don't think you overhaul government by an endless barrage of accusations and the creation of some sort of secret police," Busch added.

Ward told newsmen later he felt Busch's attack was prompted by Ward's charges that the district attorney showed reluctance in investigating the Los Angeles public relations firm, Bishop and Associates.

Ward said he first became interested in the Bishop firm in 1972 when it was alleged that funds for a Ventura County supervisor, who later was convicted of bribery, "were processed or laundered through Bishop and Associates.

He noted that Busch's chief deputy, John Howard, told him that an investigation then would be of no value because the statute of limitations had expired.

THE BISHOP firm played a role in organizing and managing the fund raising activities for Supervisor James Hayes in 1972 that led to the conviction of Sperl.

"The degree of complicity, if any, of the Bishop principals is impossible to asses from the grand jury transcript (of the Sperl investigation) due to the highly limited scope of questioning of Mr. Jim Bishop," Ward said.

He asked Busch whether there was any evidence that individuals in the Bishop firm "conspired to violate any laws with Marshal Sperl or members of his staff in the fund raising activity."

Councilman Sharp faces lie charge

Long Beach City Councilman Wayne Sharp has been charged with falsifying the facts in a traffic accident report, according to a complaint issued by the district attorney's Compton office, the Independent, Press-Telegram learned Friday.

The complaint, due for processing in early December, stems from a Nov. 1 crash in Carson when Sharp lost control of his city-owned car and rammed into a telephone pole. He was admitted to Pacific Hospital treatment of minor injuries.

He told sheriff's deputies shortly after the accident that his car was sideswiped by another auto, causing him to lose control and veer into the pole in the 2300 block of Alameda Street.

Sharp said the other car, which contained two men, sped away after sideswiping his auto, and sheriff's deputies filed the accident report as a felony hit-and-run.

Later, however, a witness to the accident told sheriff's investigators that no other car was involved in the accident, and that Sharp, alone in his car, struck the pole.

The investigators said this story, coupled with physical evidence involving the type of damage to Sharp's car, forced them to conclude that the Long Beach councilman had misrepresented the facts of the accident.

Deputies said such misrepresentation constitutes a misdemeanor violation, and the results of their investigation were turned over to the district attorney's office.

No one in the district attorney's Compton office could be reached for comment Friday.

Air crash kills 3 east of Anaheim

A light plane, flying in an overcast and intermittent drizzle, crashed and burned in an uninhabited canyon early Friday a few minutes after taking off from Orange County Airport.

All three aboard died when the twin engine Beechcraft crashed in Gypsum Canyon three miles south of the Riverside Freeway and about 16 miles northeast of the airport. The canyon is located east of the Nohl Ranch area of Anaheim.

Tentatively identified were Carl Roselli, no age, Brea; and Charles Richard Cornelli, 29, Irvine.

The crash started a brush fire that was quelled by the county fire department after charring about one half an acre.

Lockheed deal for funds OK

By RICHARD WITKIN
New York Times Service

NEW YORK—The biggest obstacles in the plan for financially overhauling the troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corporation with a massive infusion of funds from Textron, Inc., were removed Friday.

The two companies announced that they had agreed to an increase in Lockheed write-offs to a staggering $800 million, and to elimination of a firm condition that Lockheed sell 45 more of its L1011 jumbo-jet airliners.

It was believed that the projected Lockheed write-offs would be the largest ever recorded in a single transaction.

THE announcement of major revisions to the proposed deal, initially put together last June, drew predictions from all sides that the bold program to rescue Lockheed from its dangerous predicament could go into effect early next year. It still needs final approval of the Securities and Exchange Commission and satisfaction of a few lesser conditions.

Plans are to submit the scheme to the SEC in about a week in hopes of final ratification at a stockholders' meeting in February.

The revisions were agreed to unanimously by the directors of both Lockheed and Textron, a conglomerate that makes a wide range of products from helicopters to zippers, on Wednesday.

TEXTRON'S board went along even though two investment banking firms retained to assess the deal, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., And Goldman, Sachs & Co., had declined to make a judgment. Friday's announcement said:

"These firms have reported to Textron's board of directors that the ultimate values of the investment are not sufficiently determinable at present to permit them to make a definitive recommendation from a financial point of view, and therefore they are making no recommendation for or against the proposed investment."

The announcement added that, once the deal was consummated, it "should assure the continued vitality of Lockheed." From the start, it has been emphasized that the plan would not be a merger but rather a financial restructuring that would leave the two huge corporations with their separate identities.

TEXTRON would invest $100 million in the giant West Coast aerospace enterprise and end up owning 46.8 per cent of the Lockheed common shares outstanding when the deal was completed.

Vital from the federal government's point of view was the provision for releasing it from its guarantee of up to $250 million in bank loans to Lockheed. It was this controversial guarantee, passed by Congress by the narrowest of margins, that literally saved Lockheed from bankruptcy in 1971.

Soviet, Japan and U.S. sign gas contract

PARIS (AP) — The El Paso Gas Co. of Houston, Tex., the Soviet Union and Japanese businessmen Friday signed a two-year agreement for joint exploration for natural gas in Siberia.

Confirmation of the vast deposits believed lying under the frozen Siberian wastes could lead to other agreements for delivery of the gas to America and Japanese markets.

The agreement is subject to confirmation by Congress. Prospecting will cost the Soviet Union $400 million and the Japanese Export-Import bank has allowed $100 million for the project on condition the American Export-Import bank does the same.

Sugar jumps again; nears 75c pound

NEW YORK (AP) — Amstar Corp., the nation's largest sugar refiner boosted sugar prices again Friday, a move followed quickly by two other producers.

Amstar said it was raising the price of grocery sugar by $8.80 a 100 pounds, effective at the close of business Friday. That would bring the price of grocery sugar to $44.82 for 12 five-pound bags and $44.76 for six 10-pound bundles, nearly 75 cents per pound wholesale.

National Sugar refining Co. matched the increase a couple of hours later.

Additionally, the two companies and Sucrest Corp. announced increases in the cost of industrial sugar, used in making soft drinks and bakery goods.

The price increase may be passed on by retailers, depending upon local conditions and store policy.

In the past month an Amstar spokesman said his company's grocer sugar prices have risen 48 per cent, from the $30.24 price for 12 five-pound bundles posted Oct. 25. Prices will come down, he said "just as soon as raw sugar prices come down."

In the past year the price for raw, unrefined sugar has risen from about 10 cents a pound to over 60 cents a pound in what dealers say is a reaction to extremely tight world supply and commodity speculation.

Bid seen to revive House sugar bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of soaring sugar prices, an attempt may be made in the remaining weeks of this congressional session to resurrect the House-killed sugar bill, sources close to the House Agriculture Committee said Friday.

Meantime, the committee announced that the first congressional hearings on the sugar price situation since House rejection of the bill will be held by the panel Dec. 3 and 5.

IN JUNE, the House voted 209-175 to kill a committee-approved bill which would have extended the present U.S. sugar law which is due to expire at the end of this year.

In announcing the sugar hearings, Rep. Joseph P. Vigorito, R-Pa., chairman of the panel's domestic marketing and consumer relations subcommittee, said he has been "greatly disturbed at the rapid price spiral of raw sugar during the last six months to a year which has seen the price of raw sugar rise from 11.15 cents per pound in 1973 to 58.5 cents per pound today. At the same time, refined sugar has increased from 14.95 cents per pound a year ago to 65.9 cents per pound today."

He said the high price of sugar is "contributing greatly to U.S. and world inflation."

The bill which the House killed would have extended the life of the 40-year-old Sugar Act until Dec. 31, 1979, while making a series of changes in that law.

THE LAW was designed to provide a specific degree of U.S. price stability by feeding the American market predetermined amounts of sugar. The legislation allocates shares of the U.S. sugar market to Americans and friendly foreigners. It fixes allotments for American production and sets quotas on the amount of sugar which may come in from abroad.

Sugar prices have surged since the House's rejection of the sugar bill. "Prior to the November election recess, congressional attention centered on putting a sugar law-extension rider aboard the general trade bill" which is awaiting Senate action, a congressional source said.

"But, since the election, there's a revived interest in the legislation which was earlier rejected by the House," the source added.

THUS, the source said, an attempt may be made to resurrect the sugar bill in the House during the remaining weeks of the current 93rd Congress.

"For one thing, the bill would establish a quota discipline, so countries would be obligated to send us sugar despite the world price. The reason is that they would lose a future quota when the present sugar price bubble burst," the source said.

"For a second thing, as far as consumers are concerned, there would be a ban on U.S. exports of sugar. It may be that U.S. producers may be starting to sell sugar overseas, and that would short our U.S. market and make conditions worse" in the absence of a sugar law extension, the source added.

HUD cuts mortgage rate

By LEONARD CURRY
UPI Business Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary James T. Lynn of Housing and Urban Development said Friday the ceiling on interest rates for government-backed home mortgages will be reduced from 9.5 to 9 per cent on Monday.

"Lower interest rates mean lower monthly costs for home buyers and more money flowing into housing," Lynn said.

Lynn said reducing government-backed mortgage rates to 9 per cent would cut payments for an average home buyer by $13 per month.

The National Association of Home Builders said the HUD action could "lead the way for further reductions in interest charges by other lenders."

"It is a heartening move by HUD. It is a move in the direction we hope will be general," a NAHB spokesman said.

Mortgages insured by FHA constitute only about 16 per cent of the market, but the FHA-VA interest ceiling is a broad indicator of interest rates charged by mortgage bankers and thrift institutions which are the primary sources of money for home mortgages.

The new government ceilings apply to homes costing $45,000 or less. The average cost for a new home in October was $35,700.

Interest rates have been falling in all money markets in recent weeks. Treasury bills, a key indicator of interest rates, have tumbled from 9 per cent to 7.6 per cent in recent weeks. And some banks have trimmed the rate for prime corporate borrowers from 12 per cent to 10 per cent.

Because of the generally limited ability of home buyers to compete against business for money, the declining interest rates could signal a revival in the home building industry. Construction of new homes has fallen 50 per cent from peak levels in 1972.

FHA-VA interest ceilings had climbed from 8.25 per cent on Jan. 22 to 9.5 per cent on Aug. 14.

Citibank cuts rate

NEW YORK (AP) — For the eighth straight week, First National City Bank of New York lowered Friday its prime lending rate for top business borrowers.

Citibank, the nation's second largest commercial bank, cut its prime another one-quarter point to 10 per cent from 10.25 per cent, effective Monday.

The big bank has come down so fast from the record 12 per cent prime rate held widely by major banks two months ago that some other banks, including Bank of America of San Francisco, No. 1 in size, have lagged one week behind in the steady march downward.

Bank of America on Thursday lowered its prime one-half point from 10.75 per cent to 10.25 per cent.

Manufacturers Bank of Los Angeles, the 370th largest bank, followed Citibank's lead as it has in past weeks and reduced its prime rate to 10 per cent, effective Monday.

The prime rate is the interest banks charge their biggest and most creditworthy corporate customers for loans.

A consistent downward trend in the key short-term interest rate often signals the lowering of longer-term rates, such as small business and consumer loans, although there is no direct link.

AT&T cuts huge public bond offer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A program to borrow $600 million for construction and service improvement in 1975 was canceled Friday by AT&T because of the Ford administration's antitrust suit against the corporation.

Following cancellation of the borrowing program, James Needham, president of the New York Stock Exchange, criticized the government for the timing of the suit.

Needham said the antitrust suit "has quickly triggered some very undesirable consequences" at a time when business is being asked "to raise greater amounts of investment capital than ever before to fill expanding national needs and create new jobs."

AT&T had planned to use the $600 million in an extensive capital improvement program but a spokesman said the company was uncertain what, if any, projects would have to be cut next year.

"I believe we're going to have business as usual around here," he said.

AT&T canceled the $600 million debt program, the largest ever by an industrial or utility company, exactly one week after it was offered for sale to the public through underwriters.

Some bond dealers said AT&T likely will resubmit the borrowing proposal after the dust settles over the suit filed by the government to break up the giant utility. AT&T has vowed to fight the government "to the end," and the legal battle is expected to drag on for 10 years.

Draft evasion, desertion

Applications for clemency lagging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the more than 100,000 eligible men convicted of desertion or draft evasion, only 742 have applied for executive clemency with President Ford's amnesty program at the halfway point.

That was reported Friday by Charles E. Goodell, chairman of the presidential clemency board. He called it "greatly disappointing."

But Goodell said he expects things to pick up when the eligibles understand the program and that "they have nothing to lose."

Goodell made the report at the board's first public briefing session.

GOODELL said the clemency board has been getting its ground rules established and is now ready for the first time to make recommendations to the President on applicants.

The board is considering 62 cases of men furloughed from prison, will make decisions on many of them by today and expects to report to the President in two or three weeks, he said.

The board is empowered to recommend executive clemency, including commutation of sentence and either unconditional pardon or pardon conditioned on alternative service.

Of the 100,000 convicted of desertion, 508 have applied to the board and, of 8,700 civilians convicted of draft dodging, 234 have applied, Goodell said.

The Pentagon said at the same briefing that it has processed 1,954 deserters who want to sign up for the alternative job program, and the Justice Department said it has processed 103 draft evaders.

THERE are 12,500 listed as eligible under the military program and 6,200 under the draft evader classification. None of these have been convicted.

John W. Barber, who oversees the job assignment program under Selective Service, said 1,429 former military men and 96 draft evaders have signed up under it. They have two weeks after processing by the military or U.S. attorneys to report to draft offices and sign up.

However, Barber said more than 300 of the deserters have not shown up within that time, although he expects some to arrive late. Most of these were among the 500 taken from military stockades for the program, he added.

Navy Capt. William "Dusty" Miller, speaking for the Defense Department, conceded to reporters that nothing can be done with men who fail to show, unless it can be proved they "intentionally got a fraudulent discharge" under the guise of taking part in the program.

Miller said 1,508 of the 1,954 processed by the military were assigned the full 24 months on their jobs. And Robert Vayda, speaking for the Justice Department, said 69 of the 103 processed by the department were given the full two-years assignment.

MILLER said the military takes into account many factors, such as whether a man served in combat, won decorations or were wounded, in deciding the length of the assignment.

Vayda said the Justice Department considers such factors as whether a man erroneously believed he didn't violate the law and whether the program would work a "disaster" on dependents.

Goodell said he doesn't expect the clemency board to hand out as many two-year assignments as the 80 per cent rate of the military and U.S. attorneys because most had served prison sentences.

Recruiting success: Army all-volunteer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army considers itself an entirely volunteer force for the first time since before World War II, but a spokesman says there still may be a few draftees in the ranks.

At the same time, Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway announced Friday the Army has been so successful in recruiting since July that it is reducing its December goal from 14,100 to 8,100 new volunteers.

The Army announced last month it would discharge its remaining 2,500 draftees before Thanksgiving, with all expected to be out this weekend.

An Army spokesman said his service now regards itself as all-volunteer "for all practical purposes."

However, he said some draftees may have chosen to finish out their full two-year term, which was an option open to them. He indicated the Army has no definite statistics on this.

The pre-World War II draft went into effect on Sept. 16, 1940. At that time, the Army numbered only 269,000 men compared with today's force of 781,000.

There was a period of about 15 months in the 1940s when the draft was allowed to die, but the Army never was entirely free of draftees during that period.

U.S. 'can't verify' Russ silo projects

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. spy satellites may be unable to determine for sure if Russia is violating agreements made in the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks, defense officials said Friday.

This underscored the question of how the U.S. can verify that the Soviets are abiding by commitments made in 1972 to limit themselves to 1,618 intercontinental ballistic missiles while the U.S. is limited to 1,054.

Pentagon officials said spy satellites have disclosed the digging of about 30 holes in Soviet ICBM fields. From their looks, the holes could be silos for new missiles.

The Soviets have said the holes are for new, buried command and control centers to operate the missile fields. They said they planned to build one such center for each 10 missiles or about 160 in all.

The Pentagon said in the early stages of construction it was impossible to tell a missile silo from a command center, but it implied that eventually it would know exactly what was being built.

Now defense officials say this is not necessarily true. They said if the Russians really built 160 new missile silos — about 100 above the ceiling in the SALT agreement — and called them command and control facilities it would be difficult for the U.S. to prove otherwise.

Foreknowledge of Turk attack denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials denied Friday that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger knew of Turkish plans to invade Cyprus last July.

A Los Angeles Times report from Athens quoted "highly reliable sources" saying that Kissinger "not only knew that the Turks planned to invade Cyprus but also rejected a last-minute appeal (from then-U.S. ambassador to Greece Henry J. Tasca) to use the Sixth Fleet to block the Turks."

Responding to that report, State Department officials produced a transcript of a Kissinger press briefing at San Clemente, Calif., last July 7 — the day after the Turkish landing on Cyprus — in which Kissinger said he had not known of Turkish intentions.

While the transcript was not available for direct quotation, Kissinger told reporters he had learned only the previous day, July 6, that the Turks were concentrating naval forces off the Mediterranean island.

He said foreign governments and intelligence officials recalled that Turkey had deployed its navy in a similar manner in previous crises in 1964 and 1967 without invading Cyprus.

It was their opinion, he said, that Turkey was acting in a similar manner on this occasion to bring pressure on the negotiations which the U.S., Britain and France were conducting with the Greek and Turkish governments about Cyprus.

Kissinger recalled that he was notified on the night of July 6 that Turkish naval units had been headed toward the Cyprus beaches, but turned around and sailed back outside the 12-mile limit.

Simultaneously, he said, he received word that his special envoy in Ankara, Joseph J. Sisco, had appealed to Turkish Premier Bullent Ecevit to allow another 48 hours to work out a solution.

Less than half an hour later, Kissinger said, he was told that the Turkish government had informed Sisco that it had decided to land military forces on the island.

Kissinger said the United States immediately messaged the Greek and Turkish governments urging restraint.

Probe on family fortune slated

House panel OK of Rocky seen

By GIL BAILEY
Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON—Vice Presidential nominee Nelson Rockefeller came out of two days and a night of grilling before the House Judiciary Committee Friday with the votes necessary for committee approval.

Earlier Friday, Rockefeller's nomination was given a boost by a 9-0 favorable vote in the Senate Rules Committee.

Some of Rockefeller's answers to a multitude of questions clearly angered Judiciary Committee liberals, but he still appeared to have enough moderate and conservative Democratic votes to win.

In addition, conservative to moderate Republicans, who face stiff opposition to Rockefeller in their congressional districts, were ready to vote for the Rockefeller nomination.

"I'M NOT particularly fond of him," said Rep. Carlos Moorhead, who said he had received several thousands of letters opposing the nomination, "but I haven't heard anything proven- which would bar him from the vice presidency."

Rep. Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., also appeared ready to vote in favor of the Rockefeller nomination.

On the other side of the party line, Reps. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., and William Hungate, D-Mo., indicated general approval of Rockefeller as a nominee, if not of his politics.

On the other side of the fence, eight to 10 Democrats are lined up against confirmation, primarily on the basis of Rockefeller's answers concerning possible uses of the CIA and the FBI.

"HE LOST some votes with his answers," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who asked Rockefeller whether he would approve of use of the FBI in extralegal "disruption" programs similar to the ones ordered by J. Edgar Hoover from 1956 to 1971.

Rockefeller said he might give such approval in specific cases, such as plots to assassinate a president.

On another question, he said he would approve CIA involvement in such overseas ventures as the efforts against the Allende government in Chile.

The Judiciary Committee has not completed its hearing on Rockefeller. A closed door session is expected next week concerning the Rockefeller family fortune.

IN ADDITION, some FBI investigations of Rockefeller activities are continuing, including one started Friday afternoon.

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., noted that the Rockefeller family had spent $20 million on politics in 20 years and added that Rockefeller should take no special credit for his civic and public activities, saying that his activities were by "choice not sacrifice."

Rockefeller agreed.

On the other hand, Rep. Wiggins pointed out that the committee might consider the reverse of the Rockefeller coin in that it might be considering a nominee who came from great poverty who might be tempted to steal

The Judiciary Committee will work most of next week up to the Thanksgiving holiday and then return after the Thanksgiving recess in hopes of completing its work and sending its recommendation to the House floor for vote before Christmas.

U.S. appeals Texas lawyer prosecution

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The government filed an appeal in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court on Friday against a federal judge's efforts to continue the prosecution of a Texas lawyer who is the chief witness against former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

The appeal by the Watergate special prosecutor and the Justice Department was filed against orders issued by U.S. District Judge Robert M. Hill, who refused to dismiss charges against Jake Jacobsen and appointed his own special prosecutors to try the case.

The Watergate prosecutor's office agreed to drop a Texas indictment against Jacobsen in return for his guilty plea to a single-count indictment and cooperation in the government's case against Connally.

But Hill refused to go along with the plea bargain agreement and on Sept. 6 denied the government's motion to dismiss the Texas indictment against Jacobsen.

WHEN THE government said it would not prosecute, Hill appointed two special prosecutors of his own Oct. 23 and set the case for trial. The appeals court here issued a stay Nov. 11 to allow the government time to appeal.

The government argued in Friday's appeal that it had authority to strike the bargain with Jacobsen and Hill was going beyond his rightfulpowers in continuing the case.

"There is no question that the bargain was a valid exercise of the government's discretion or that the government entered into the bargain in good faith," the appeal said.

"Thus, by replacing the United States attorney with special prosecutors and by requiring the Texas prosecution to proceed, the district judge substituted his judgment for that of the executive branch," the government said.

THE APPEAL said Hill had no statutory authority to proceed with prosecutors answerable only to him and that it was "a clear violation of the constitutional separation of powers."

A federal grand jury in Texas last February named Jacobsen and Ray Cowan, directors and stockholders in the First Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo, Tex., in a case stemming from an $825,000 loan transaction.

The Watergate prosecution force later decided it needed Jacobsen's help in making a case against Connally in connection with milk lobby payments to Connally.

A bargain was struck under which Jacobsen agreed to plead guilty to a bribery count if the Texas case were dropped. Keeping his agreement, Jacobsen testified before a grand jury which indicted Connally on charges of receiving illegal payments. Cowan, meanwhile, pleaded guilty in Texas.

BUT WHEN the government moved to dismiss the Texas case against Jacobsen, the state of Texas objected, saying that in deference to the federal probe it had turned its own evidence over to government authorities with the understanding they would conduct a prosecution.

In refusing to dismiss the case and appointing new prosecutors to try it, Hill said the court had a duty "to protect and fulfill the public's interest in the vigorous prosecution of such an indictment."

Hill said he acted under "the inherent power of the judiciary to effect the proper and orderly administration of justice."

Connally denied dismissal motion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief U.S. District Judge George Hart Friday denied motions for dismissal of four criminal counts against former Treasury Secretary John Connally in connection with the milk scandal.

Connally's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, had asked Hart to throw out two counts of conspiracy to obstruct justice and two counts of perjury against Connally, who is accused of accepting $10,000 from milk cooperatives in 1971 in exchange for his help in swinging milk price support increases.

After rejecting those motions, Hart delayed until Monday oral arguments on two other defense motions — to move Connally's trial out of Washington, perhaps to New Orleans or Des Moines, and to declare illegal the electronic surveillance conducted against him.

The tanned, silver-haired Connally, wearing a light blue pin-stripe suit, was in the courtroom with his wife and son for the pre-trial arguments.

The hearing came 11 years to the day after Connally — then governor of Texas — was seriously wounded by gunfire which killed President Kennedy in Dallas. The two men and their wives were riding in the same open limousine.

Connally was indicted July 29 on five counts in connection with the milk case. Williams and Watergate prosecutor Frank Tuerkheimer agreed that two counts alleging Connally received $5,000 on two occasions were defectively drafted, and that an information drawn by the prosecution could be substituted.

Williams asked that the two conspiracy counts be dismissed because they "simply create confusion, a morass of confusion among the jurors" in what was otherwise a simple bribery case.

Sirica may drop secondary charges

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica indicated Friday he may drop two of the secondary charges in the Watergate cover-up trial of five Nixon White House and campaign aides.

He said he would rule after the prosecution wound up its case Monday on whether to dismiss one count each of lying to the FBI, charged against John D. Ehrlichman and John N. Mitchell.

"I think it's very weak," he said of the government's evidence on the charges that Ehrlichman and Mitchell once lied in saying all their knowledge about the Watergate break-in came from reading newspapers.

Dismissal of the counts would have no effect on the main conspiracy charges against Mitchell, Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson.

The government had been expected to rest its case Friday after six full weeks of presenting evidence, but things got mired in a lawyers' argument over whether Ehrlichman could show that national security considerations were a factor in his actions on Watergate.

Ehrlichman's lawyer, William S. Frates, apparently was signaling, through his cross-examination of Egil Krogh Jr., that Ehrlichman would claim he was concerned that Watergate investigations would lead to disclosure of the 1971 White House-directed burglary in the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Sirica said he would allow some testimony along that line.

Ehrlichman was denied national security as a defense in his trial on charges that he violated the psychiatrist's rights and was convicted by a jury. Krogh, who directed the White House investigative unit known as the plumbers under Ehrlichman, pleaded guilty and served 4½ months in prison.

Sirica told Frates he wanted to know where his questions were leading, sent the jury from the room, and questioned him.

Frates said he intended to show through Krogh's testimony that the plumbers were operating on former President Richard M. Nixon's orders and that they did not think what they were doing was a crime.

He said Nixon had instructed everyone "not to discuss the work of the plumbers under any circumstances."

Sirica said even if Ehrlichman received such instructions, he should have known as a lawyer that such searches were barred by the Constitution.

"They were instructed by the President of the United States that under no circumstances were they to discuss many other things that can't be discussed and haven't been released yet about what the plumbers' unit did," Frates argued. "That is very material to this issue."

Sirica responded, "I can't say I agree with you."

Frates said, "We're not trying to defend the break-in, your honor," and Sirica replied: "I can't say I agree with you, frankly, but I'll let you go ahead."

AT THAT point, chief prosecutor James F. Neal argued: "There are some things that are inherently wrong ... it's wrong to go into a doctor's office in a covert operation and secure surreptitiously and covertly the most confidential of all communications, between patient who needs psychiatric help and the man who is giving it to him ...

"That is simply wrong, and if that is required to maintain this country then we have lost sight of what this country is about."

The argument was a replay of long, drawn-out discussions at Ehrlichman's previous trial, where U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell disallowed national security as a defense.

The charges of lying to the FBI are in one count each of the indictment against Ehrlichman, who is charged also with two counts of perjury, and Mitchell, who faces three additional counts of perjury.

"FRANKLY, I recognize that the proof on what was or what was not in the newspapers is not overwhelming," Neal told the judge when the jury had left for the noon recess.

"I think it's very weak," Sirica said, adding that he would rule when the government's case was all in.

Neal responded that the government had presented evidence that Ehrlichman and Mitchell knew of G. Gordon Liddy's participation in the break-in at the time that they made the statements to the FBI and that Liddy's role had not been in the newspapers.

Sirica said that if the charges were dropped it would have no effect on the conspiracy and obstruction-of-justice counts.

Rockefeller Center Christmas tree up

NEW YORK (AP) — A 60-foot Norway spruce from Lehighton, Pa., was lifted into place Friday in Rockefeller Center to become the center's 42nd annual Christmas tree.

The tree, with star already attached, will undergo two weeks of trimming and decorating prior to the lighting ceremony Dec. 5. It weighs almost three tons and has a branch spread of about 30-feet.

1,600 jobs lost to Cal.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — More than 1,600 jobs will be eliminated in cutbacks at military installations throughout Northern California, officials said Friday.

The Pentagon announced a new series of base closures Friday, to save money for shoring up U.S. combat strength by eliminating 23,000 military and civilian jobs around the country.

ONLY A few of the installations in California are being closed in the economy moves by the Pentagon, officials said. But several area bases will lose jobs through consolidation.

Hardest hit by the cutback will be Sharpe Army Depot, about five miles south of Stockton, where 900 civilian jobs are being cut as its aircraft and equipment maintenance programs are transferred to bases in Texas, Pennsylvania and Utah.

But the depot will gain about 270 jobs in its new role as a repair parts storage center, meaning a net loss of more than 600 jobs.

McClellan Air Force Base in Sacramento will lose 818 military positions due to the cutback, a spokesman there said.

The 1,400-man 552nd Airborne Early Warning and Control Group is being deactivated over the next 19 months, said spokesman Sgt. Doug Roffman.

BUT various reserve activities are being moved to McClellan from Hamilton Air Force Base north of San Francisco, reducing the number of lost positions. Another 173 civilian jobs are also being added at McClellan.

Other effects of the cutbacks that will occur mainly through attrition through June 1976 are:

—Loss of 170 civilian jobs at the Sacramento Army Depot, even though the 3,000-man installation is assuming new duties.

—Closure of the Air Force Balloon Research Station in Chico with a loss of 13 positions.

—Elimination of a tanker support unit at Castle Air Force Base, Merced, with a loss of 45 jobs.

—"Disestablishment" of the regional headquarters of the Defense Supply Agency in Alameda and of the Defense Contract Administration Services in San Francisco.

Although 108 bases are affected nationwide, only two major installations will be closed: Frankford Arsenal, an aging stone-walled fixture in Philadelphia, and Ellington Air Force Base, Houston. Ellington may, however, be used by the space agency.

Kentucky will be the hardest hit, losing 2,900 jobs. Close behind are California, down 2,700 jobs; Pennsylvania, down 2,500, and Missouri, down 2,300.

ILLINOIS is the only big gainer with an additional 2,400 jobs, almost all of which will go to Scott Air Force Base.

The closures will be stretched out until June, 1977. A total of approximately $330 million a year will be saved by the time it is completed.

THE LAST big base closure package came 19 months ago, following the 1972 presidential election. That set off a loud clamor in Massachusetts, one of the worst-hit states, where citizens felt the administration was punishing the state because it was the only one that Richard Nixon failed to carry.

New nuclear particle stirs physics world

STANFORD (AP) — A second new and mysterious nuclear particle has been found deep within the atom, just days after the first discovery was announced, physicists said Friday.

"I don't know just what I think right now," said physicist Burton Richter, when asked about the significance of the burst of new activity in the world of physics.

Richter, the head of a research team at the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center — SLAC — said the two discoveries "leave us with still more questions to answer ... and very little sleep for anyone."

The newest discovery, made just last Thursday, at SLAC, is of a nuclear particle named Psi 3700, found in the cascade of particles produced in the collision of beams of particles at the Stanford Center. It was found at an energy level of 3.7 billion electron volts — BEV.

Last Saturday, the SLAC group announced the discovery of a particle at 3.105 BEV and named it the Psi 3105. The same particle also was announced at the same time by a team from MIT-Brookhaven National Laboratory. The East Coast group named it the "J" particle.

The atom is composed of a nucleus of protons and neutrons with electrons in orbit around them, much like the planets orbiting the sun. This picture of the inner structure of the atom gave way to one of as many as 100 subnuclear particles.

The strange subnuclear particles are produced in accelerators, or atom smashers, by either smashing two beams of particles together, or by hurling a beam at a stationary target.

The discovery of the first Psi or J particle did not fit into any of the theoretical schemes the physicists had constructed to explain the nature of matter. The discovery of yet another particle is not yet understood, either.

Just one of the surprising and mysterious properties of the newly discovered particles, is that they have a relatively long lifetime before they decay — 100 billionths of a billionth of a second.

There are a variety of guesses as to what the new particles may represent, such as expressions of strong or weak forces at work in the nucleus, or involving the idea of quarks as the fundamental particles of matter.

And one of these guesses concerns a so-called "charmed quark," a particle that would fill out the idea of three fundamental quarks with a fourth quark with certain physical properties physicists call charm.

SUBPOENAS

agents, which began recently when some 50 FBI men invaded the city armed with more than 20 subpoenas, did not initially involve the giant liner. However, during the examination of potential grand jury witnesses, the contracts awarded for the renovation of the liner and its mooring were questioned.

Also currently under question are leases aboard the Queen and a possible tie-in between Queen leaseholders and Las Vegas gambling figures, a source said.

Although there was little elaboration, the probe into the Las Vegas-Queen Mary connection appears to have resulted from an Independent, Press-Telegram story two months ago which detailed attempts by Las Vegas kingpin Jay Sarno to get a lucrative lease aboard the ship. The attempt, and subsequent follow-up attempts, were turned down by the city.

Also under the expanding probe are what a reliable source said were "relationships between certain members of the city government and business firms."

Councilman E. F. (Ted) Cruchley, one of the six councilmen subpoenaed to appear before the federal jury, said he had been questioned about his interest in his son's sporting goods store. The firm was given a contract by the city council. Cruchley participated in the vote. The councilman maintains he had divested himself of any interest in the firm.

However, Cruchley said, most of the questioning—during two sessions with FBI agents—centered around Ringo, Inc., attempts to get a city license and a lease given to the Long Beach Amusement Co. on a Pike parking lot.

As far as questions about the Queen Mary, he said, there were none directed to him.

"They did however," he said, " discuss campaign contributions. They had a list of names they quizzed me about--but some of the names I had never heard of."

Their request for certain records he kept, the councilman said, has already been filled.

"I sent the records to them," he said frankly, "but they're not kidding me—they already had the records. In fact, I'm sure they made a personal investigation of each individual they questioned—an investigation far beyond that individual's term in office. Judging from some of the questions they asked me, I know they must have reviewed my past. They are very, very thorough.

"But," he said, "I'm glad they're making this investigation—if there's anything wrong, we should know about it."

Plan for coed gyms voided by Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional conferees Friday ordered the Department of Health, Education and Welfare not to spend federal funds trying to integrate boy and girl gym classes.

The order, in strong language, came in the settlement late Thursday night of a $33 billion appropriations bill for the Departments of Labor and HEW.

"None of the funds appropriated in this bill are to be used to enforce the integration of physical education classes by sex," said the conference report.

THE CONFEREES also ordered HEW not to apply sex discrimination rules to Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Boys Club, Girls Club, YMCA, YWCA, high school and college fraternities and sororities and similar organizations.

The rules were drafted by HEW to enforce a 1972 law prohibiting sex discrimination in education.

"The conferees also believe that in enforcing the provisions of Title IX (of the law), the department is imposing an unreasonable amount of paperwork on these institutions," the report said.

HEW Secretary Caspar Weinberger said department lawyers believed the conference report was not legally binding on HEW.

this would lead to its own elimination.

"Israel will not follow the multitude," Tekoah said. "It will not be deterred from its course...at no time has the people of Israel felt more certain of the justice of its own cause than now. At no time has it been more steadfast and more united in warding off the assault of the forces of darkness than today."

PLO delegation officials said that while they welcomed the overwhelming support in the General Assembly, the organization would not drop its armed struggle.

"Without the military struggle, we would not have achieved what we have," said delegation spokesman Nabil Shaath.

"If we now stop on the resolutions, the chances are we will be allowed to sit there and be forgotten. So far we have not liberated one inch of our territory."

Shaath said the votes meant that he and the other PLO delegates can return to the Middle East to tell the Palestinians "they are not alone, they are not isolated, there is no need for desperation.

The practical effect of the Assembly votes on the Middle East was not expected to be shattering. But in the diplomatic world, the PLO — the umbrella organization for Palestinian guerrilla groups — had already been granted a mantle of legitimacy, diplomatic sources said.

CUTBACKS

— AMC, the nation's fourth largest auto manufacturer, said the production suspension beginning Dec. 9 will idle 7,000 workers at its Kenosha, Wis., plant and 1,000 employes at its Brampton, Ont., facility.

AMC normally employes about 17,000 persons in Wisconsin. A company statement cited declining sales for the suspension. The statement also said officials are concerned that backlogs of Gremlins and Hornets might hamper shipment of AMC's new Pacer model due to be put on the market in January.

— The Defense Department announced realignments at 111 facilities resulting in the elimination of 11,600 civilian jobs and the relocation of 11,500 military personnel.

—The Norfolk & Western Railroad said it had miscalculated earlier in the week when it said it had furloughed more than 750 workers since the coal strike began. A spokesman said recalculations had placed the number at only 350, mostly in West Virginia.

— About 150 hourly employes at the Western Electric plant in North Andover, Mass., will be laid off Nov. 30 because of reduced production needs. A company spokesman said it was not known how long the workers would be off at the Merrimac Valley Works, one of the largest Western Electric plants in the country. The works employs 10,000 people. "We don't know how long they will be laid off," the spokesman said, "but production requirements made the reduction necessary. We will monitor business conditions and recall them as soon as conditions improve." The plant makes transmission equipment for telephone use.

—Magnavox Co. said it is laying off 1,140 employes Friday at its electronics plants in Tennessee and North Carolina. A spokesman said it was due to "the generally depressed economic conditions prevalent in the consumer electronics industry." The layoff affects Magnavox employes at plants in Greeneville, Morristown, Johnson City and Jefferson City, Tenn., and Arden, N.C.

Kiss and avoid colds — don't shake hands

BERKELEY (AP) — A researcher on the common cold says you probably won't catch it by kissing, but beware of shaking hands. And rubbing noses is out too.

"The most important method of transmission is when the fingers become infected and go to the nose," Dr. Jack H. Schieble told a health care seminar at Alta Bates Hospital here.

Dr. Schieble, a research specialist for the California Health Department, said the viruses that cause colds are extremely hardy and can live on hard surfaces like formica table tops for up to three hours.

He said experiments have shown kissing is not likely to transmit a cold because very few viruses remain in the mouth.

HIJACKING FREES TERRORISTS

the Egyptian plane arrived, assuring reporters there would be no further developments until morning.

The Egyptian jetliner taxied to a halt within a few yards of the hijacked British Airways VC10, which was snatched Thursday in Dubai and came here by way of Tripoli. Both planes were surrounded by troops and police.

The PLO delegation emerged, but the prisoners apparently remained in the plane while negotiations with the hijackers resumed.

Belkhodja conducted the PLO delegation to his operational headquarters in the airport VIP lounge. James Craig, head of the Near Eastern and North African department of the British Foreign Office, had arrived in Tunis an hour earlier and was waiting in the lounge to join the negotiations.

The three hijackers wounded a stewardess and a porter when they took over the VC10 during a stop in the Persian Gulf sheikdom. The wounded were left behind in Dubai.

Both the PLO and the Egyptian government have condemned the hijacking.

Arafat, who is in Damascus, was quoted by Tunisian radio as calling it a "sabotage of the Palestinian cause." The United Nations General Assembly passed two resolutions Friday night in New York — endorsing the Palestinians' right to statehood and granting the PLO observer status at assembly sessions and U.N. conferences.

Tunisian authorities said the 41 hostages included 23 passengers, 10 crew members and 8 ground personnel of Dubai Airport, where the plane stopped on a flight from London to Singapore and Brunei on the island of Borneo in the South China Sea.

Two women and two children, all of Indian nationality, were released when a Tunis airport truck took food to the plane shortly after nightfall. Tunisian officials said 10 of the passengers were British and the others included Dutch, Belgian and at least one West German.

The Egyptian Foreign Ministry has called the hijacking a "hopeless effort foisted on the Palestine people to harm their struggle."

Egyptian Ambassador Hassan Maeil nonetheless acted as intermediary andwas in continuous contact with the hijackers from the airport control tower. With him were the PLO's permanent representative in Tunisia and the British and West German ambassadors.

Officials said the hijackers offered at one point to release all the women and children on board provided the troops were removed from the tarmac. Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba personally ordered the demand rejected, the officials said.

Bourguiba also refused to approve the hikackers' demand, made soon after they landed, for the plane to be refueled.

During the afternoon, one of the hijackers reached out of the cockpit window and fired a shot into the air, presumably as a warning to the troops to keep away from the plane.

The airport, briefly closed after the plane landed, was reopened for normal traffic, but all incoming aircraft were ordered to make a wide berth around the VC10.

It's 'in' to be Indian nowadays, historian says

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

In all but a few parts of the U. S., it's becoming increasingly popular to be Indian, according to an authority on Indian history who is teaching at Long Beach State University this semester.

William Brandon, author of The American Heritage Book of Indians and The Last Americans, said that young people—even those with only a trace of Indian blood—are trying to recapture their lost heritages.

So are many of their elders, some of whom spent a lifetime trying to cover up the social stigma of being Indian.

"I know of some people who have spent most of their lives in white urban society who are moving back to the reservation when they retire," he said.

Brandon, who is teaching a special course on "The Indian in American History" this semester, said that it's only been in recent years that the old public stereotypes of Indians—caused by last century's Indian wars and the abject poverty on many reservations—have been breaking down.

INDIANS HAVE come into better repute as the gross materialism and increasing emptiness of the white society that conquered the Indian nations has become more apparent, he said.

"There's a widespread feeling that there are so many things wrong with our society now," he said. "There's a strong sense that we're living in very perilous times."

That's given rise to hope that the Indian way of life may offer some alternatives.

Brandon said that one student in his class is trying to learn as much as she can about a great grandfather who was Indian.

Another student, of Choctaw heritage, wants to learn to speak Choctaw.

In addition, non-Indians searching for alternative ways of living—particularly those experimenting with communes—are drawing heavily on Indian lore.

"They don't always have all their facts right, but they understand the basic message," Brandon said.

"FOR INDIANS, life is usually based on a sense of relatedness to others in a community. White society stresses property and material values."

Brandon thinks that many Americans are searching for a sense of community because they feel alienated from other people in urban society.

"But there are still places where Indians are hated violently by whites," Brandon said.

He cited the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota, site of recent conflict between federal authorities and the American Indian Movement.

However, he said, the growing respect for Indians and Indian life styles should give Indian cultures a much better chance of avoiding assimilation into mainstream American society, something feared by many Indians and white anthropologists alike.

Brandon, as much of a storyteller as a historian, received the Western Heritage Award in 1962 for his research on Western Indians. He is also well versed in current Indian affairs. He was awarded a grant from the Stern Family Fund for Investigative Journalism to prepare articles on Indian affairs in 1969-70.

He said that Indian communities such as the southwestern Pueblos—the oldest continuous communities in North America—have had a deep influence on later Americans just by their continued existence in the face of white civilization.

"THESE PUEBLOS are a combination of political, religious and blood relationships," he said. "They have survived repeated attempts to destroy them—both by force and by attempts to help "our little red brothers."

These efforts—often guided by high ideals—still go on today, Brandon said.

He cited recent hearings held by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., aimed at giving Indians more civil rights.

Brandon said that many abuses need to be corrected—reservations such as Pine Ridge are rife with arbitrary and often brutal treatment of Indians—but that Ervin's proposed Indian Bill of Civil Rights would have spelled doom for the Pueblo Indians.

"If there were one Mormon in the tribe, he could demand to use the community's ceremonial houses for Mormon services one day a week," Brandon said. "But this would destroy the sacredness of the kiva (ceremonial house) for the rest of the tribe."

Instead of a woman getting a divorce by tossing her husband's hat out the front door, the civil rights measures would force the Indians into hiring attorneys and doing complex paperwork, which many tribes have no money to pay for.

"What's good for one tribe may not be good for another," Brandon said.

At present, U. S. law recognizes Indians as having at least partial independence from the American legal system.

By CHARLES SUTTON
Staff Writer

Stanford population biologist Dr. Paul Ehrlich called the Ford Administration's energy policies "unbelievably stupid" Friday and charged that the country's nuclear power plants represent "the most dangerous non-military venture ever undertaken by Americans."

In a talk before the annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association in Long Beach, Ehrlich called not only for a halt to the building of new atomic plants, but the dismantling of those already in use.

No sooner did he conclude his statements, though, than Atomic Energy Commission chairman Dixie Lee Ray accused him, in effect, of spreading irresponsible and unsubstantiated charges on the public record.

She said Ehrlich, in his talk to the editors, did "a marvelous job of illustrating the need for evidence supported by facts. It makes good copy to call people names and attack government agencies.

"It's easy to prey on the fears of people by saying that everyone involved is bad and wicked, but it doesn't do any good," she declared.

Although the two speakers introduced little if anything new to the continuing dialogue over nuclear plant safety, their exchange marked one of the rare times that a leading critic of atomic energy and a prominent exponent had met face to face to debate the issue.

It also illustrated the wide gulf that continues to separate the two sides.

Ehrlich, whose most recent book, "The End of Affluence," is a study of what he calls "the bungling of American energy policy by government and industry," said the "atomic power establishment is going ahead with the building of nuclear power plants even though the three major problems of catastrophic accident, long-term waste storage and diversion of nuclear materials for malicious purposes remain unsolved."

He also attacked the recently published Rasmussen Report — a study of the risks of nuclear accidents — as "a whitewash," asserting that the report had enough flaws in it to make it useless. The major flaw, he said, is that it doesn't consider the growing possibility of nuclear sabotage.

"One reason given in the report for ignoring this critical factor is that sabotage could not create an accident worse than those envisioned in the report. Using that same logic," he added, "if the AEC were considering a person's chances of being killed in an automobile crash, it would probably feel free to ignore the odds of being hit by a drunk driver because the results would be no worse than a head-on accident caused by a blow-out."

The Rasmussen Report was prepared under the direction of Dr. Norman Rasmussen, a professor of nuclear engineering at the Massachusettes Institute of Technology. Rasmussen, who did the study under AEC aupices, found the likelihood of a core meltdown to be extremely remote: about one chance in a million per year.

AEC officials have used the report's findings to show that the chances of a jet crash are considerably greater than the odds of a nuclear plant accident. Moreover, they've used the report to suggest that nuclear accidents can no longer be realistically equated with apocalyptic disasters.

In her comments to the editors, Ray said a nuclear core cannot blow up like a bomb. In the event of a core meltdown, she said, the probability is that the fissionable material would be drawn into the earth. As for radiation leakage, she called it unlikely.

Ehrlich, taking strong exception to her statement, asserted that "a helluva lot of gaseous material could get out" — the radiation equivalent, in his estimation, of "many Hiroshima-like bombs," in fact.

"If the nuclear plants are so safe, he asked, "why won't the country's insurance companies insure them. They've refused to pick up full liability," he declared. At this point, Ray left to catch a plane, and the debate ended.

Earlier, the population biologist accused the nuclear establishment of "deliberately misleading the public" on the issue of nuclear sabotage by claiming that nuclear plants do not produce bomb - grade material.

Bus-tling with holiday spirit

Poly High School art club members Elaine Fields, 15, left, Jennifer Rockwood, 15, and Sharon Barden, 15, get into the Christmas spirit early Friday as they decorate a Long Beach Public Transportation Co. bus for the holidays. Eighteen students are participating in the project commissioned by the Downtown Long Beach Associates. The DLBA is donating $100 to the student fund in exchange for the art work, which is to publicize the downtown merchants' "Storybook Christmas." It is to appear from Nov. 30 to Dec. 24 along several routes in the Long Beach area. The water-soluble paint can easily be removed after Christmas.

Former alcoholic-dope addicts tell of the long, hard road to recovery

By MOLLY BURRELL
Staff Writer

A couple of voluble, personable ex-alcoholics and ex-dope addicts who kicked both habits and came back to help others do the same, talked about the long, hard road back to reality Friday in Long Beach.

Dr. Lou Smith, staff psychiatrist at Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk, and his wife, Fran, a supervisor at the Orange County Department of Mental Health, shared the podium before members of the Harbor Chapter of the National Rehabilitation Association meeting at the Elks Club.

Dr. Smith, ex-pathologist and university professor, the first physician to go through Synanon, admitted at the start: "I was in love with dope. I still love whiskey, pot, pills, dope, chocolate bars—I'm an addict. Anything I like I figure if the load is good, more is better."

He continued: "I spent 20 years on booze, 20 years on pills, seven years on dope. I still have lumps in my hands, arms and legs from shooting heroin. I'll never have them removed...I need them to remind me where I came from."

He came from a background of brilliance—high IQ, high achievement, he said. But something happened along the way to the $100,000-a-year income, the big house on the hill, the eight cars—something called booze. And something called dope. And plenty of access to each.

"Can you picture the joy of a being a physician with access to the whole drug store full of pills? And all the free samples in the mail? I was the only guy on the block who ate half his mail before noon."

The bottom dropped out in 1968, he said, and showed the group his income tax form which recorded an annual total of $22.50. That was the year he headed for California and knocked on Synanon's door.

"I spent the first two months there cleaning up (toilets) then graduated to scrub garbage cans. That was the humility therapy," he said.

Six months later, dried out, clean, bolstered by daily megavitamin therapy (which he still continues, and advocates for his patients) he left for a job at a state mental hospital. Another six months later he enrolled at UC Irvine and completed courses to become a psychiatrist.

Before Synanon, he said "I had tried all the self-help in the world—all over the world—because I could afford it. With the help of self-help, I got sicker," he said.

Cold turkey was his only answer, and Alcoholics Anonymous was a good part of his help, he said.

He called alcohol the most dangerous addictive in the whole spectrum.

His redheaded wife, Fran, seconded his evaluation and called alcoholism "a terminal, incurable, irreversible disease."

"I stand here as a miracle," she declared. "I'm a recovered alcoholic, pillhead and addict. I've been clean and sober for seven years...For 26 years I was a garbage can: I took anything I could get—anything that would take me out of me...I couldn't take reality."

However, she said, "alcoholism is a patient, cunning disease and it took a long time before it knocked me out. I was strong and had terrific tolerance...I could drink any man under the table for years. Then came the point where I couldn't reach that plateau I wanted anymore so I started adding pills—20 a day."

Her approach with those she helps is "whatever works...I'm sort of a garbage can therapist. I believe in total treatment—the whole family. I believe in one-to-one, and group therapy. And in the magic of one drunk talking to another—they've been there."

The weakest link in the whole rehabilitation field, she said, is a continuing program, keeping people coming back at regular intervals after initial treatment is finished.

$200,000-a-month agreement ended

State won't reconsider UMEDCO cutoff

By ROBERT GORE
Staff Writer

State Department of Health officials Friday refused to reconsider their decision to terminate the state's $200,000-a-month contract with UMEDCO Nov.30 despite appeals by Dr. Irving Moskowitz, head of the health plan.

The state had been reimbursing UMEDCO, Moskowitz's corporation, over the past 18 months for providing medical services to 5,000 mostly indigent residents of Long Beach, Lakewood, Paramount, Bellflower, Norwalk, Artesia, and Hawaiian Gardens.

Moskowitz, who flew to Sacramento for the meeting, said "we have very good vibrations with the state and things look very good on renegotiating the contract."

"The plan will end Nov. 30," a state department spokesman said. He added, however, that there will be at least one more meeting next week. The cancellation was announced Nov. 15.

County Supervisor James Hayes, in a related development, announced late Friday that he had ordered County Health Services Director Liston Witherill, to ready an emergency plan to provide medical care for UMEDCO patients.

Hayes termed the situation "very serious," and said, "even though Dr. Moskowitz told health officials today (Friday) that his hospitals are in no financial trouble, I have ordered that emergency standby measures be taken.

"IF UMEDCO'S difficulties do affect its hospitals, we are ready at a moment's notice to use other nearby hospitals," Hayes said.

The statement came after Hayes, who was attending a reception at the UMEDCO-owned Paramount General Hospital, was told by an employe that his paycheck had bounced.

"Absolutely not true," said Moskowitz when told of the paycheck statement.

Moskowitz has contended that all debts and other problems have been the fault of UNIMED, a subcontracting firm that has handled the health plan since June.

Dr. Bradford Flack, the Los Angeles physician in charge of UNIMED, remained unavailable for comment.

A state audit at one point revelaed UMEDCO to have debts of $800,000, Elizabeth Owen, a Department of Health official said. A current figure was not available.

UMEDCO has no debts, Moskowitz said, but added that between $100,000 to $150,000 was owed by UNIMED. Four hospitals, Long Beach Neuropsychiatric Institute, Paramount General, Cerritos Gardens of Hawaiian Gardens and Doctors Hospital of La Puente are owned by UMEDCO.

UMEDCO is one of the largest private health care systems in the county, Moskowitz said.

Ms. Owens said the health plan contract with UMEDCO was canceled because Paramount and Bellflower physicians were urging their patients to quit the organization. In addition, she said, UMEDCO hired new doctors and the state was not informed.

SHE SAID SHE was not aware of any other investigation of the medical conglomerate being conducted on a state level. UMEDCO is being "very carefully monitored" by the state, however, she commented.

Doctors in Paramount General Hospital emergency room prompted the series of events leading to the cancellation by refusing to give routine treatment to UNIMED patients. Emergency treatment, however, was not stopped by the physicians, who said UNIMED had never paid them for their services.

Dr. Gilbert Faustina of Bellflower said he is owed "$24,000 by UNIMED and has made at least 60 unanswered telephone calls to Flack.

Faustina said he had begun legal action against UNIMED and Flack.

A letter being mailed to all of his UMEDCO patients, Faustina said, "strongly advises the people to apply with another company or MediCal.

City Council schedules next meet for Monday

The next regular meeting of the Long Beach City Council will be held Monday at 9 a.m., instead of the usual Tuesday session.

The meeting was changed for next week only, because most of the council members will be in Los Angeles Tuesday to appear before a special federal grand jury which is investigating possible organized crime intrusion into city government.

Monday's meeting will be held in the council chamber on the third floor of City Hall, 205 W. Broadway.

Brown picks executive secretary

By EVANS WITT

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov.-elect Edmund Brown Jr. Friday appointed Gray Davis, an unsuccessful primary candidate for treasurer, to oversee formation of his administration.

The 36-year-old secretary of state gave Davis, a former aide to Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, the title of executive secretary for the period until Brown takes office in January.

Brown said Davis, 31, will have "overall responsibility" for the transition.

Along with Davis, Brown named 13 other persons to fill key roles in the transition period. The appointments included six lawyers, five women, two insurance executives, one union official, two Mexican-Americans and one black.

GRAY DAVIS
Tapped by Brown

In a statement, Brown said:

"These persons will assist me during the transition in filling the appointive posts in my administration. I intend to form an administration of the most talented and qualified persons available."

At a Los Angeles news conference, Brown also said he had named Jay Anthony Kline, a member of a San Francisco public interest law firm, to serve as transition appointments secretary.

Kline will work with Davis on appointments, Brown said.

Members of an appointments transition committee to help Brown select his new administration's personnel are:

Leonard Grimes, a black insurance executive from Los Angeles; Mario Obledo, a Harvard Law School professor; Carlotta Herman Mellon; a Pomona College professor; A. Thomas Hickey, another Los Angeles insurance executive; Herman Sillas, a Los Angeles attorney; and Rose Bird, a Stanford University law professor.

Working with the appointments team will be Ken Erwin, a staff member of the Operating Engineers Union Local 3 in San Francisco.

Administrative assistants to the team will be Agnes Barling, who is now on Brown's secretary of state staff, and Buff McDannel, a campaign advisor.

Mary Jean Pew, a Brown campaign aide, will be special adviser to the governor-elect on educational affairs. She is chairman of the history and government department at Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles.

Transition budget advisers are Ed Hamilton, a former budget director for New York City, and Leonard Ross, a member of the Columbia University law faculty and codirector of the 20th Century Fund project on California budget priorities.

Earlier in the week, Brown named two top campaign aides, Richard Maullin and Tom Quinn, to oversee the areas of energy and air pollution, respectively.

No appointment has been announced for another key Brown campaign aide, Doug Faigin.

Lew Werner, Brown's assistant press secretary, was asked if the appointments Friday indicated that these three had fallen from favor.

Werner said: "Not at all. Jerry feels energy and air pollution are two critical areas that he has charged his two former top deputies with looking into."

On Faigin, Werner would only say, "This is the first batch of appointments for the transition."

Brown told reporters in Los Angeles that his appointees made up a "broad-based, highly qualified team."

"My first priority is restoring faith in government, and you don't do that by putting in cronies and hacks," he said.

Brown emphasized that all the appointments were on for the transition, but that he wants the "best possible people" to work with him.

Asked what made Davis qualified to be Brown's No. 1 advisor, Brown said:

"You're making the assumption that he's the most important — they're all important."

The governor-elect said Hamilton and Ross will work with the Department of Finance on the 1975-76 state budget due in January.

"The budget will be prepared by the Department of Finance and I have asked these two men to assist me in drafting the budget," Brown said.

He said he did not know whether the two would be candidates for director of finance in his administration.

Flournoy eyes UC post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Houston I. Flournoy, the defeated Republican nominee for governor, says he is interested in succeeding Charles Hitch as president of the University of California.

Flournoy said he has been asked by a number of people if he is interested in the job. "It certainly would be a job in an area that I would be terribly interested in," Flournoy said in a broadcast interview.

Hitch is resigning effective June 30 and a committee is searching for a successor.

Flournoy said his future in politics would depend on what type of job he takes after leaving his present post as state controller in January.

"If it is compatible with politics, obviously I'd be interested," he said. "If it is relatively incompatible — like being president of the University of California—then I would obviously take myself out of politics."

Flournoy was an associate professor at Pomona College before he entered politics as an assemblyman and has a doctorate in government from Princeton.

Flournoy also said he still thinks his opponent, Gov.-elect Edmund 'G.' Brown Jr., will be a "disaster" as a governor but added, "I hope that I'm wrong."

He also repeated that he had no real regrets about the election.

"I think we did as good a job as we could have done.

Calls on GOP to resist compromise

Reagan cites principles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Reagan urged Republicans Friday to refuse to compromise their principles because it gives their Democratic opponents "a foot in the door."

"Even if we go down in defeat, I think it is better if we stand up and say, 'No,' we cannot compromise with you on this, we cannot go against our beliefs and philosophy" Reagan told a Bay Area Republican Alliance farewell luncheon here.

"We cannot say we'll settle for a $12 million deficit rather than a $30 million deficit," said Reagan.

While Republicans might think they have something to gain by a compromise, Democrats "think it is just a foot in the door. They say, 'We've got this much, we'll get the rest the next time around,'" Reagan said.

"That's why I vetoed more bills than all the other governors of California put together."

The governor said the presidential race between former President Richard Nixon and Democrat George McGovern indicated that the GOP can win by sticking to its philosophy. He said that contest clearly indicated the difference between the two parties.

"Our opponents ignored party lines and went by the millions to our side," Reagan said.

Reagan attributed the Republican defeat in the last election, in which Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. was elected to succeed him, to voter apathy.

"I think the election was decided not by votes but by those who didn't vote — those who stayed home," he said. "So many of our people have been turned off by our institutions."

Reagan cited budget cutting in general and welfare reform in specific as the greatest accomplishment of his two administrations.

He said his welfare reforms saved California taxpayers $2 billion, while at the same time increasing the benefits to "those who really need them" by 43 per cent.

"We vetoed $16 billion in spending over eight years," he said. "We increased government productivity and proved that government can operate with the same efficiency as business."

PUC warned to put lid on hikes

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — Assemblyman-elect Terry Goggin Friday threatened the California Public Utilities Commission with a legislative takeover if it doesn't clamp down on rate increases.

Goggin was among witnesses at the PUC public hearing at the Convention Center here on Southern California Edison's request for a 21 per cent hike in electricity rates.

"If the PUC doesn't get tough, we in the Legislature are going to take jurisdiction away from them," Goggin said in an interview.

Goggin, newly elected Democrat in the 66th District, said if necessary he would work toward a constitutional amendment creating a new body to oversee utilities and "stop this ripoff" of the public.

ASSEMBLYMAN Jerry Lewis of the 67th District also appeared at the hearing to oppose SCE's request for a $339-million general rate increase, which the company said would amount to 15 cents a day—about $4.50 per month—for the typical customer.

Lewis said a petition with 35,000 signatures opposing the rate increase was presented to him.

A company spokesman told the audience of more than 600 persons that the increase was needed to offset inflation in fuel costs and attract the capital to build additional plants.

SEC probing dealer

Coin buyers charge bilking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A dealer in gold and silver coins with offices in 63 cities and 30 states is under federal investigation on fraud complaints from investors who allege losses of millions of dollars, the Securities and Exchange Commission said Friday.

Stanley Sporkin, director of the SEC Enforcement Division, told UPI the SEC had undertaken an investigation of the Western Pacific Gold and Silver Exchange Corp. as a result of the complaints.

Several branch offices of the firm have drawn the notice of state and local authorities as a result of investor complaints.

And Western Pacific's home office in Las Vegas, Nev., is under investigation by the U.S. attorney, the regional SEC office and local authorities, an SEC official said. Those investigations stemmed from complaints by coin buyers that $4 million worth of coin and silver purchases were not delivered, the official said.

The extent to which Western Pacific offices in 62 other cities will be investigated by the SEC was not immediately known, but Sporkin made clear it would go well beyond the Las Vegas situation.

Robert H. Davenport, the administrator of the SEC's regional office in Denver which includes Las Vegas, could not immediately be reached.

Western Pacific offices in several cities have already been closed by state and local authorities, or have closed voluntarily, the SEC said.

Indiana has issued a cease-and-desist order against the company for alleged violation of state securities laws. The company's two top officials in Louisiana and the head of the state's consumer protection office have resigned.

Gerald Crain, manager of Western Pacific's office in Birmingham, Ala., said he was having a "great deal of trouble" getting silver from the company headquarters in Las Vegas and no longer was taking orders for future delivery of silver.

In Kansas, the Johnson County district attorney, Margaret Jordan, said she was investigating the abrupt closure of Western Pacific's office there.

Western Pacific is headed by James Ray Houston, a Las Vegas man who claims to be a descendant of Sam Houston. A sign posted outside the door at the Las Vegas office says: "Closed for internal audit." The telephone has been disconnected.

Besides the Western Pacific case, the SEC already has filed fraud charges against four similar companies in Utah and Colorado in suits alleging losses to investors totaling $10 million.

Hearings set for eight of 11 in Harbor betting-card case

Eight of the 11 persons arrested last weekend in a harbor area drive against football betting-card activity were released under $500 bail each, pending pretrial hearings set for Dec. 19, at their arraignment Friday in San Pedro.

They are accused under section 337-a of the state Penal Code, a section which limits punishment of a felony bookmaking violation to a misdemeanor sentence.

The other three had their arraignments continued to 9 a.m. Nov. 29 by request of Dep. Dist. Atty. Larry Wong, who has under study a police request for their prosecution. Wong said Friday he expects to reach decisions on the three remaining cases Monday.

Police investigators had arrested the 11 suspects on conspiracy to commit bookmaking in football betting pools. Capt. Roger Mairs, commander of Harbor Division, Los Angeles Police Department, called the alleged activity in the harbor area "a $50,000 take of gullible bettors' money with a negligible payoff to winners."

Judge Walter S. Binns, who had issued search warrants for the arrests, conducted the arraignments in Division 85, Municipal Court, San Pedro. The pretrial hearings on Dec. 19 were set for Roy John Roach, 41; Tony Francisco Ortega, 36; Arlene Louise Pearcy, 29; Marcial Gilbert Monge, 31; James Joseph Bettencourt, 54; Andrew Peter Fistonich, 21; John Shundo, 54, and Paul Nicholas Avila, 44, all residing or employed in the harbor area.

Wong said Friday he has for study police cases naming Andrew Roy Fistonich, 41, owner of Andy's Seafood Co., Wilmington; Daniel Louis Vitalich, 34, San Pedro, a checker for Pacific Maritime Association; James Robert Scott, 48, San Pedro, sales driver for Standard Seafood, San Pedro.

Complaints against the eight persons who were arraigned Friday had been issued by Bret Lobner, deputy in charge of the harbor area office of the Los Angeles city attorney.

Court barred from ordering alibi notice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A court may not order a criminal defendant to disclose whether he will offer an alibi at his trial, the California Supreme Court ruled Friday.

The unanimous opinion by Chief Justice Donald Wright said courts should not require advance notice of an alibi defense unless the Legislature first enacts a detailed law governing notice-of-alibi procedures.

THE CASE involves Robert Reynolds, a Los Angeles man charged with a series of crimes.

The Angeles Superior Court had ordered Reynolds to give the prosecution at least three days notice before calling any alibi witnesses and to disclose their names, addresses and telephone numbers.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Of all the spring blooming bulbs, Dutch hyacinths provide the most fragrant blossoms, according to a group of gardeners who named their choice of spring bulbs.

Lots of hyacinths may be planted, but few produce long stem blooms. This condition could be caused by a lack of water while the bulbs are growing. Wholesale growers recommend that as soon as the bulbs begin to grow they must have plenty of water for better and longer stem growth.

A helpful factor in teasing the bulbs (planted in a sunny area) to develop longer stems, is to put a can (open-ended) over each bulb. The cover provides shade. The cans should be four inches in diameter and are four inches tall. Cans that measure seven inches tall also can be used. Quart-size milk cartons can be used similarly, but they are not as sturdy as cans and could blow over even though anchored a quarter-inch deep in soil.)

Gardener also should check to make sure no slugs have wormed their way under the cans to feast on the tender succulent growth. Cans should be removed when the new growth is about three inches high. Gardener will probably be shocked because the leafage is white. This is due to lack of sunlight, which aids the plant to manufacture the chlorophyll — green coloring — in leaves. They will turn green within several days.

Gardener can successfully grow tall-stem Dutch hyacinths in half shade and sun. What's more, bulbs can be left in the ground for several years in either full sun or sun up to half shade.

Lovely fragrant daffodils, too, will bloom successfully in half shade, and may be left in the ground like hyacinths. English and Dutch iris also may be left in the soil for several years.

And tulips can be grown in partial shade as well as full sun, but should be dug up each year and replanted.

Petite bulbs one still can plant now are grape hyacinths, freesias, sparaxis, gladiolus tristis (if any found) and ixias. Callas might be available too, as well as the yellow and pink ones. The last two color callas should be grown in at least half sunlight in order to encourage them to flower. They hardly flower in full shade.

Lots of lawns are still being rejuvenated, that is, blade lawns, St. Augustine, devil grass and hyrbid bermuda grass. They usually are mowed close, and a winter annual grass seeded in, then thinly dressed with a quality grade weed-free steer manure, then kept moist till the first mowing. Thereafter lawn is watered as needed, and fertilized twice. The rye grass gradually dies out as hot weather sets in. Some gardeners prefer to use a finer blade grass seed mixture in blade lawn instead of rye. Lawns reseeded with finer blade seed last longer, which means they are not annual.

Weeds are cursed pests growing in a lawn. They have no business being in a lawn. Gardener still has a good opportunity to combat those miserable weeds, but he must begin now and make the four applications as recommended.

Gardener can do one of two things. He can use an herbicide that sterilizes, inhibits, kills the weed seeds so they don't sprout. Such an herbicide is called pre-emerge. It can be used on dichondra lawns to sterilize wild-blade weed seeds, as well as a number of small broadleaf weed seeds. Check the label for the creeping oxalis weed one must use a specific post-emerge herbicide which attacks the growing weeds.

The simplest way is to use a turf fertilizer that contains such herbicides for dichondra lawn.

A post-emerge herbicide kills the broad-leaf weeds as listed on the label. Gardener must double check with the nurseryman whether it may be used on dichondra, too!

Gardeners lose $7 tax break

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The gardeners of America lost a $7 a year tax break when Rep. James A. Burke's proposal to extend the 7 per cent investment tax credit to the first $100 of home garden tools was dropped by the House Ways and Means Committee this week.

The Massachusetts Democrat, who is also pushing legislation to give free seeds to all Americans, convinced the committee months ago to include the tax credit in its pending tax reform bill, but it was dropped when the bill was scaled down to bare bones to help its chances of passage.

Burke, his cause lost, agreed to drop the amendment after telling his laughing colleagues, "I think we ought to get it in for spring planting."

Garden Jobs

GARDENER can have mystery gardenias bloom in the winter near a swimming pool if there are two basic factors present. An enclosed fence that is tall and wind proof, and a swimming pool that can be heated. The moisture that rises from the water provides humidity and warmth for the plant. (We actually have seen a gardenia blooming in the month of February in San Gabriel area near a swimming pool under such conditions.)

Years ago when I worked in a nursery, the propagator would bring a number of container gardenias into the greenhouse about mid-October. The warmth and humidity encouraged them to bloom. The plants were sold as Christmas gifts!

A SHRUB, whether camellia, hibiscus, a tree, or any type of plant that is stunted in growth, usually may have one of three problems. Too deeply planted, soil too loose — hence lacks sufficient moisture — or had nematode root infestation. Correct one of the first two problems if needed. Discard the nematode infested plant, then fumigate the soil before replacing it with a new plant.

Ask the Old Farmer: I have heard tales of burning old barns with "insurance oil." What does it mean? S. K., Fort Wayne, Indiana.

A term for kerosene. Devious characters found kerosene very helpful if they wanted to collect insurance. Some of them went so far as to leave a bucket of kerosene on the fire instead of water.

Home Hints: Molasses, syrup and honey are all apt to stick to the measuring cup. To avoid this, butter the measuring cup before you pour in these ingredients . . . Riddle answer: A pair of mittens.

'Reborn' Panovs plan U.S. tour

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two ballet dancers, "reborn in art" since they were allowed to leave the Soviet Union in June, announced plans Friday for a U.S. coast-to-coast tour.

Valery Panov and his wife, Galina Ragozina, who were virtual prisoners in the Soviet Union for two years, danced publicly in Tel Aviv earlier this month for the first time since 1972. They flew in from Israel Thursday night in preparation for a number of appearances in America and England.

At a news conference Friday Panov told reluctantly of their experiences in Russia, saying he didn't "want to think about evil."

Maxim Gershunov, impresario of the tour, said the Panovs have been "reborn in their art" since they have been able to resume dancing.

Panov, who is a Jew, was a star of Leningrad's Kirov Ballet and his wife was a soloist with the company. When they asked for exit visas to Israel in April, 1972, he was fired immediately and she was demoted to the corps de ballet and dismissed a short time later.

N.Y. going to dogs

NEW YORK — The roughest, most outspoken pan letter I ever received is from TV interviewer Fran Lee who attacks me for being too pro-dog.

Miss Lee likes dogs but charges that irresponsible dog-owners in violation of the law are making New York the biggest dog toilet in the world. And she feels that I write "sob sister stuff" belittling her and others who merely ask that people keep dogs on leashes and make them do their defecating at home.

It started with me writing about actress Heather MacRae taking her Hungarian sheep dog Puli to Dog Hill in Central Park where she meets other dog nuts and other dogs.

The anti-dog group has another name for Dog Hill. It's not a pretty name but it's descriptive.

Fran Lee, a white-haired grandmother and medical researcher, went to Dog Hill one day to lecture the dog nuts about using the park as a dog john. She says they booed her, picketed her home and sent her threatening letters.

"We've become an idiot nation on dogs," she says. "We feed dogs better than kids. We had 40,000 dog bites last year. Dogs cause blindness and even death to the human population."

We surely do have dog enthusiasts in Show Business but most of them have trained their dogs carefully and keep them leashed. Lillian Roth, Johnny Mathis, Alice Faye and Gretchen Wyler are dog-daffy. The late Kay Francis left $2 million to the Seeing Eye Dog foundation.

On the letterhead of "Children Before Dogs," Fran Lee says 94 per cent of the people don't have dogs and resent 6 per cent dirtying the town. "Will you have the guts to print this?" she demanded.

Yes ... but not the other name you have for Dog Hill!

A FAMOUS midwest coach blames his poor season on his backfield: "They're so slow they gain four yards — and then lose two of them on instant replay" ... A local doctor still makes housecalls; he charges $10 a flight of stairs ... A fellow explained how he knew it was time to go on a diet: "I noticed I was puffing even when I walked DOWN stairs" ... Notes the cynic: "Home cooking is what a lot of modern women ain't."

Today's Best Laugh: Bob Orben had an embarrassing experience: "Last week I enrolled for a memory course — and then forgot why."

Wish I'd Said That: Some Americans are wearing WIN buttons, while others are pushing panic buttons.

Remembered Quote: "Keep in mind that your wife still likes candy and flowers. Show her you remember, by speaking of them occasionally."

Earl's Pearls: After watching TV, Lou Brekeer figures the Waltons are like any other family — with one eye on the farm and the other on the ratings.

Morty Gunty complained that things never go right for him: "For instance, Mickey Rooney once started a standing ovation for me — and nobody noticed it." That's earl, brother.

Catholic bishops urge Rocky quiz on abortion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops have formally requested that vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller be questioned about his stand permitting abortion.

The National Council of Roman Catholic Bishops, through a committee, voiced concern Friday over Rockefeller's position in a letter sent to the Senate and House committees considering the nomination.

It was a rare step for the bishops, who historically have confined their joint actions on public issues to principles, rather than singling out individuals.

John Cardinal Krol of Philadelphia, the bishops' outgoing president, in making public a brief segment of the letter, said it does not name Rockefeller. But it does specify "the nominee for the vice presidency."

It asks that he be questioned "on his present position on providing legal protection for unborn life, and to ascertain that he will not use the office of vice president to promote a personal viewpoint on permissive abortion."

Catholicism officially strongly opposes abortion as the taking of fetal life.

The letter was dispatched by John Cardinal Cody of Chicago, head of a pro-life committee. He won authorization to send it during a sharply argued executive session Thursday.

Sources reported the vote was 128-87 to send the letter. Krol declined to discuss the meeting, except to say the action was taken.

He told a news conference that while the vice president's oath requires him to enforce the law, including the Supreme Court's decision permitting abortion, Rockefeller's views "went beyond it."

"We're concerned that he not use the office to promote his personal views," the Cardinal said.

Rockefeller, as governor of New York, vetoed legislative attempts to repeal the state's abortion law enacted previousy in his administration.

The letter went to Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and to Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee.

That committee voted unanimously Friday to recommend the nomination, but confirmation requires both full House and Senate approval.

The closed debate among the bishops over the matter reportedly hinged on their long-time policy of speaking out collectively only on issues, rather than on particular candidates or public figures.

Numerous bishops argued against any divergence from that policy, sources said.

Krol maintained the action taken was not unprecedented in church affairs, but that he could not cite offhand a similar step.

He said the action was not directed "specifically toward a person, but toward his past statements and actions on permissive abortion. It's not the man. What we're objecting to are his positions and attitudes on this thing."

The bishops' administrative board reportedly had discussed action earlier and decided against it. Krol, asked about that, declined comment.

But the procedure got the controversial approval of the annual meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, which concluded five days of work here Friday.

Krol said the page-and-a-half letter expresses respect for the public service of the nominee and calls attention to his public statements on permissive abortion.

However, the cardinal disclosed the wording of only one sentence of it — asking that Rockefeller be questioned about his views and future position on the matter.

Ford urged to increase food aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of humanitarian organizations Friday urged President Ford to make an additional 4 million tons of American food available to the millions abroad facing the threat of starvation in the coming yer.

The plea was made at a news conference by the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, chairman of the Overseas Development Council and president of Notre Dame University.

Endorsing the proposal were Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum, New York, speaking for the American Jewish Committee; the National Council of Churches; a number of other organizations including CARE, and individuals including Cardinal Terence Cook, archbishop of New York, Harvard nutritionist Jean Mayer and Robert O. Anderson, chairman of Atlantic Richfield Oil Co.

"It is already certain that images of famine in living color will intrude upon our Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays," Hesburgh said in a prepared statement.

Immediate and massive aid is needed to halt widespread malnutrition and starvation due to reduced harvests, he said, and the U.S. could help by wasting less and eating less and reducing sales of food products to foreign commercial enterprises.

Hesburgh acknowledged that short supplies, rising prices and heavy commercial demand abroad would make it difficult to add the needed $800 million in food costs to the federal budget, "but there is no escaping the question of priorities."

"We must ask whether the threat to human security posed by the food crisis does not outweigh some of the more traditionally recognized security threats. The entire additional U.S. food aid contribution now required will cost two-thirds as much as one Trident submarine."

Administration officials have estimated U.S. food aid in 1974-75 — including emergency famine relief plus shipments made for national security reasons — will be somewhat above the 3-million-ton level of 1973-74.

Richard E. Bell, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture, said in an interview later that an aid increase of 4 million tons above currently scheduled shipments appears "completely out of the question."

"We're not aware of any needs of that magnitude," Bell said.

The U.S. food aid total for the 1974-75 season is expected to be slightly above the 3.3 million tons shipped last year, officials indicate; but final figures will depend on reviews as the season progresses.

Food allotment plan for needy nations urged

Associated Press

The Indian ambassador to the United States, Triloki Nath Kaul, said Friday his country supports a world food policy that would allocate food to underdeveloped countries on the basis of need.

Such a policy would prevent a dangerous scramble by needy nations for dwindling food supplies in coming years, Kaul said.

"India does not want charity or aid from the United States or any other country," he told a press conference in Los Angeles.

"What we would like is cooperation and a system of allocation of surplus food from the surplus countries with some priority allocation on commercial payment to the most seriously affected countries."

Kaul said an allocation on a priority basis "of your surpluses for exports to the most seriously affected countries, your farmers would not suffer and we would be able to get whatever we need.

Religion seen sustaining Nixon in unique crisis

RELIGION

Although Richard Milhous Nixon has confronted numerous crises in his life, the one he is now living through is unique in history.

Certainly he who compiled the litany of his woes in his book, 'Six Crises', never thought he'd have to be challenged by a dilemma so agonizing as the present one.

From where does Richard Nixon draw the strength to meet this ordeal? What is sustaining him? What is the source of his endurance?

He is drawing upon the religious convictions with which he was imbued since his youth. He is also deriving strength and consolation from his family. Both his parents were deeply religious. His mother was a Quaker; his father, a Methodist, who, after their marriage, embraced Quakerism.

"MY QUAKER background has had an enormous effect on my outlook on life, personally and politically," Richard Nixon once told me.

The power of prayer also manifested itself in Richard Nixon when he surrendered his office. "In leaving the presidency," he said, "I do so with this prayer: 'May God's grace be with you all the days ahead.'"

While during his presidency the religious services held at the White House were sometimes a subject of controversy, it is now evident that once away from the center of power and authority in Washington, Richard Nixon, the private citizen, continues to turn to his religious faith as a source of value and meaning which enables him to cope with the drastic changes in his life.

This type of religious faith has provided him with considerable strength of a decisive nature. His will to live and earnest desire for inner peace not only give him additional strength to cope, but Mrs. Nixon and daughters Tricia and Julie also draw from this same spiritual source in their support for one another.

IN THE COURSE of his last remarks as President of the United States — made to his staff and Cabinet — Richard Nixon spoke of his "saintly mother," Hannah Nixon. Apparently, then, the spiritual guidance she instilled in him in his formative years, is helping him during this crisis.

In addition, he has the moral support of many a sturdy friend. Those who know him best are convinced that he is a man with deep spiritual foundations, and those foundations are sustaining him.

Of the former President, Tricia Nixon Cox told me: "My father has a great inner faith in God, which gives him strength to carry on during this period. He definitely believes in something greater than himself, which I think is always a comfort during times of injustice and during times of trial, which this certainly is for him. It's a belief in religion and in God.

"His mother had a wonderful spirit. She had what the Quakers call this inner spirit. There is something very lovely in the Quaker religion that I love to apply to all people, as there is in everyone a consciousness of God. When you look around the world, this gives you hope — if only it would be enhanced and actualized.

"My father certainly does have a deep faith and he knows that history puts everything in due perspective, and I believe the present troublous period awaits being set in its proper perspective."

NIXON'S OTHER daughter, Julie Eisenhower, who minored in religion in college, and now attends Bible study classes, said "I think my father is being helped by religion in these trying times. I know that, as in the past, he is lucky because he has a heritage of faith in God from his parents and I really think this helps him."

Mrs. David Eisenhower recalled that, both when he was twice sworn in — as Vice President and as President of the United States respectively, he used the same passage from the Bible: "And they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; Nation shall not lift up sword against Nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

"And so, the role of

Nixon faith

peacemaker goes back for my father to 1953."

Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary and confidante for almost 24 years, described him as being "religious within himself." She added that his inner religious belief has carried itself over to his children.

"Principles and religion go hand in hand, and while working with a man for so long and knowing of his kindness to his fellow man, the many things he does anonymously for others, I can honestly say he is a deeply religious man. This faith is today helping to give him the courage and strength necessary for survival so that he can continue his great work for the cause of peace for all peoples in the world."

Nixon's former Chief of Staff, Gen. Alexander M. Haig, Jr., related: "The former President's faith in God is helping him at this troublesome period. I don't like to present myself as an expert in so private an area, but I know he's a man who frequently takes his own counsel. He enjoys, and benefits from, this period of being in a meditative posture."

AS A YOUNG man, Richard Nixon participated in the life of the East Whittier Friends Church. He played the piano for groups at the church, sang in the choir and taught a Sunday School class of young married people.

The minister of the church to which he still belongs — Rev. T. Eugene Coffin— stated that Nixon's religious background is reflected in the "long-range goals and plans he had spelled out" for the country while he was President.

Coffin said that the following achievements are rooted in his religious convictions: The disavowal of the use of germ warfare; the end of the draft and institution of voluntary military services; nuclear arms control; the orderly pull-out from Vietnam and Thailand of our military forces; his visits to Peking and Moscow; his position on individual and corporate responsibility and accountability in the areas of labor and legislation; his commitment to constitutional government and the return of the government to the governed by forcing issues back to the States, to Congress and to the courts.

Coffin added that a positive recognition of Nixon's accomplishments had long been overdue. "He will be sustained inwardly by the grace of God."

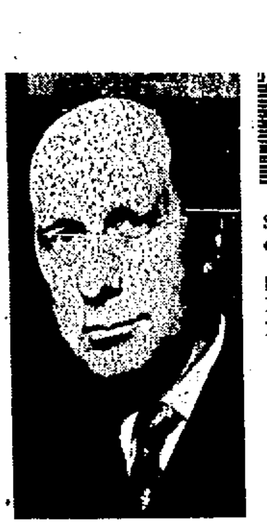
The Quaker minister said that President Ford initiated a "new spirit by an act of compassion. This in turn provides the climate for confession, and for the healing of wounds cleansed by skillful acts of creative concern. It is at the altar of the Lord, not in the torture chamber, that new birth takes place.

Hubert Perry, a fellow Quaker and friend of Nixon for over 45 years, observed: "Richard Nixon wouldn't be alive today — with the torment and punishment he is undergoing — had he not had an abiding faith in himself and in God.

"Certainly he is a religious man. His religion is even expressed in the manner in which he brought up his daughters. It was also expressed in his commitment to peace, his desire to find solutions to the Vietnam conflict and world tensions, as well as his increasing of the dialogue with Communist countries."

From the foregoing, it appears that it is indeed religious faith which is Richard Nixon's shield and helmet during these trying times, despite constant bombardments being leveled at him.

His belief in a higher power than man is just as sustaining now as it was when he held the highest office obtained by man ... "His strength cometh from the Lord ... "



T. W. ASTON
British Consul

Pipes, consul in Anglican day here

Symbolizing the ties between the American Episcopal Church and its British Christian forebearers, St. Luke's Church at Seventh and Atlantic will go all out Sunday for the Office of Morning Prayer, linked to the feast of St. Andrew.

The celebration will begin with members of the Lord of the Isles band in full regalia "piping" the St. Luke's Choristers into the church, followed by pipers, drummers, dancers and officiant.

Special guest and reader of the lesson for the 11 a.m. service will be Her Britannic Majesty's Consul General, the Hon. T. W. Aston, commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. Following the service, dance members of the Highland group, in their tartan, will perform the Highland Fling and other numbers.

50th hailed at 2 churches

Two Long Beach churches will celebrate their Golden Anniversaries, 50 years of service to the community, this Sunday.

At Calvary Baptist, South and Lime, many of the past ministers, youth directors and organists will be present at the 11 a.m. service. There will be recognitions, special displays and music, followed by a potluck luncheon. Present pastor is Rev. J. Earl Reavis, assisted by minister emeritus Rev. O. A. Streepy.

Atlantic United Methodist, 1535 Atlantic Ave., at its 11 a.m. service will hear Rev. Dr. J. Irwin Trotter of Claremont Theological Seminary, whose father, Rev. Fred Trotter, was pastor of the local church from 1931-34. Rev. Eugene E. Bell is the present pastor.

30th in Compton

St. John's Presbyterian Church in Compton will celebrate its 30th anniversary Sunday with special musical programs by present and former members at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services. The pastor, Rev. V. K. Vose, is a 1951 graduate of Long Beach Poly High.

Book gives Christian viewpoint on emotion

By MARK CLUTTER

THE CHRISTIAN USE OF EMOTIONAL POWER, By H. Norman Wright (Revel, $4.95.)

Many Christians hold that the Bible is the perfect counselor for persons in emotional trouble.

A major defect of this belief lies in the fact that a person wracked by emotion may not know where to turn in the Bible, which is a rather big book.

Wright, a Long Beach author, attempts to remedy this in part in his book. He is a psychologist and licensed marriage counselor. He teaches at Biola College, La Mirada, and its graduate school, Talbot Theological Seminary.

This book, although backed by scholarship, is written simply for people, especially those with a strongly religious bent. It discusses controlling our emotions and thoughts, how to deal with worry, anxiety, depression and anger.

The psychology is modern, but he links it with the teachings of the Bible and Christian thinkers. He does it rather well. "There is no new thing under the sun."

Surprisingly, this marriage counselor scarcely touches on the problems of sex and family life in his book. But he has written other things on those subjects.

This book should be valuable to Bible-oriented readers.

VOLUNTEERS INVITED

Bible Week to spur fight on illiteracy

By LES RODNEY
Religion Editor

"Good News for New Readers" is the emphasis for this year's National Bible Week observance, which starts Sunday. Two Long Beach women are more than happy to explain why.

Mrs. Jean Hertzog of the Long Beach Literacy Council points out that the Southland's illiteracy rate is 16 per cent, and this figure does not even include those to whom English is a second language. The Council is grateful to the American Bible Society, which supplies much-needed materials for adults who are learning to read.

"Once we teach people to begin to read through our tutor program," she explains, "there is not enough material for them to continue reading. That's why the Bible Society material is so important."

Mrs. Barbara Hoepfl, area volunteer worker for the Bible Society (one of 10,000 such volunteers in the world), and an active churchwoman, feels that churches here are not sufficiently aware of the literacy problem, and of the opportunities for individual Christians to help.

"With Thanksgiving near," she suggests, "helping with this aspect of the work of the American Bible Society is one good way to express thanks for our blessings. And it brings benefits to the local church to have some of its people involved."

The ABC's colorful, cheerful-looking, large-type booklets, she says, are prepared for five levels of difficulty, ranging from near illiteracy to the ability to read Good News for Modern Man, the super-popular easy language edition of the Bible (which was originally meant for newcomers to English.)

Scripture materials are translated into 200 tongues by the Bible Society, Mrs. Hoepfl notes. The Society's sole purpose is "to promote the distribution of Holy Scriptures without doctrinal note or comment and without profit."

Once they can read the Bible, she says, they can move on to other things.

Mrs. Hertzog stresses that the field for volunteers is wide open.

"In fact, there is a desperate need for more readers, and writers—people to write for their reading vocabulary, not speaking. Things like how to fill out official forms, use newspapers, use the library, the dictionary, find directions ..."

There are all kinds of reading disabilities among adults, she says. Many people hide their functional illiteracy because of a sense of shame. "They'll say they forgot their glasses, for example."

The rewards of tutoring are rich, says Mrs. Hertzog. In addition to the satisfaction of applying elementary Christian principles, "there is the joy of seeing a person go down to take a driver's test for the first time, because of being able to read the questions." Or perhaps, as happened in one case, when a woman tremblingly signed her name for the very first time, to hear a husband say proudly: "No mas es mi esposa la Senora Equis." (No longer is my wife Mrs. X.)

Does the Council's literacy program in effect compete with the Board of Education and its adult education?

"No," replied Mrs. Hertzog, "for this reason: We generally take adults who have a poor self-image, who are not ready to subject themselves to a school situation. They do not have confidence they can learn, except on a patient and sympathetic one-to-one basis, which we provide."

The Literacy Council is an outgrowth of the late Dr. Laubach's concern with the problem. Also using Scriptural material, his successful world-wide emphasis was "each one teach one."

In one Long Beach instance, a Spanish-speaking student who licked illiteracy then became a valued tutor in the program.

New training classes for volunteers are scheduled early in January. Churches or individuals interested can contact Mrs. Hertzog at 422-5255. They will learn of the problems of the non-reader in today's society, and how to teach the illiterate on the proper individual level.

"While the material is non-denomination Christian in orientation," she says, "anyone who wants to help can tutor."

Bible Week

President Ford and a cross-country lineup of congressmen, governors, mayors, businessmen and religious leaders are heading a drive to boost the Bible as a basic source of integrity and idealism.

"This year we need the good book in a very bad way," says the theme for the campaign, the annual interfaith observance of National Bible Week from this Sunday, Nov. 24, through Dec. 1.

In the eight-day period, specific passages are recommended for reading each day.

POSITIVE THINKING

by Norman Vincent Peale

Thanksgiving works wonders

"Every day I give thanks for the wonderful things that happen to me," declared a young man enthusiastically. "And do you know something? The more I give thanks, the more I have reason to be thankful. Blessings just seem to add up one after another."

In these remarks this man stated a basic law, that the more you practice thankfulness the more you have to be thankful for. It is a fact that thankfulness tends to reproduce in kind. It reverses the flow of good away from you and sets flowing in your direction new benefits and opportunities. The attitude of gratitude revitalizes the mental process and activates fresh creativity. It focuses the personality so that you can work better, think better, get along better with people, and, in short, it conditions your abilities to function more effectively in every respect.

I first met this man one night in an East Coast city where in a speech I spoke of the limitations we put on our own potential, how incredibly we shackle and restrict ourselves by glum and negative thinking. Afterwards this man spoke to me.

"THEORETICALLY I agree with what you said, but it wouldn't work for me," he declared. "Everything goes wrong, always wrong." "That's strange," I replied. "You look like an unusual person, if I may say so." And when he gave the requested rundown on his education experience it checked out as top quality; in fact, he had been an honor student. "Guess you have the brains all right," I said. "But of course even the best brains can get fouled up by wrong thinking. Perhaps that is the reason everything goes wrong for you."

When everything consistently goes wrong, something must be wrong somewhere in the personality pattern. For wrongness inevitably produces wrong results. Therefore some procedure was required in this case to correct the wrongness and build up the rightness element.

I suggested that he might be helped by the practice of thankfulness. He looked bewildered, evidently considering the idea somewhat irrelevant, but when the process was outlined I must say he carried it out faithfully and with excellent results.

I took a sheet of paper and drew a line down the middle to form two equal columns, and over the lefthand column wrote "Things that are wrong," and over the other, "Things that are right."

"You won't have anything to put in that righthand column," he growled.

"O.K., let's see when we come to it. Let's start on the things that are wrong." Quickly, and with ease, we filled that column.

"Now, what have you to be thankful for? Name one good thing?" "Can't think of one," he declared. "Well, is your wife dead?" I asked. "Why no, of course not." So I wrote in the righthand column, "Wife alive and well."

"How about your house — has it burned down?" "Of course not!" So he wrote, "House not burned." "How about yourself, had a heart attack?" "Are you kidding?" he asked. "Do I look like I'd had a heart attack?" So I wrote "No heart attack."

"LOOK," I DECLARED, "you told me everything has gone wrong with you. But without half trying we've listed three basic facts that are good, real good. Now go ahead and fill up that column of good things; and every day give thanks morning and evening. Talk thankfulness, think thankfulness. Keep adding up the many things you can be thankful for and go around telling everyone, especially yourself, how thankful you are. You'll be surprised, for in no time at all you will develop a strong thankfulness psychology.

"And this will start a real turn-around for you. It doesn't mean that suddenly everything will be one hundred per cent, for it won't. But improved conditions will start developing." And that is precisely what happened. This man's life changed dramatically by practicing thankfulness.

Skip the negatives. Emphasize the positives. Sure, you will have difficulties. But you can handle them, and a positive, thankful psychology has the power to make things good, real good.

A present to Bill's mom from his desk partner

By MAVIS B. FERGUSON

Condensed from the magazine Christian Herald

A week after my son started first grade he came home with the news that Roger, the only Negro in the class, was his playground partner. I swallowed and said, "That's nice. How long before someone else gets him for a partner?"

"Oh, I've got him for good," replied Bill. In another week I had the news that Bill had asked if Roger could be his desk partner.

Unless you were born and reared in one of the white-supremacy states as I was, you cannot know what this means. I went for an appointment with the teacher.

She met me with tired, cynical eyes. "Well, I suppose you want a new desk partner for your child, too," she said. "Can you wait a few minutes? I have another mother coming in right now."

I looked up to see a woman my age. My heart raced as I realized she must be Roger's mother. She had a quiet dignity and much poise, but neither could cover the anxiety I heard in her questions: "How's Roger doing? I hope he is keeping up with the other children? If he isn't just let me know."

She hesitated as she made herself ask, "Is he giving you any trouble of any kind? I mean, what with his having to change desks so much?"

I could feel the terrible tension in her, for she knew the answer. But I was proud of that first-grade teacher for her gentle answer: "No, Roger is not giving me any trouble. I try to move all the children around the first few weeks until each has just the right partner."

I introducted myself and said that my son was to be Roger's new partner and I hoped they would like each other. Even then I knew it was only a surface wish, not a deep felt one. But it helped her, I could see.

Twice Roger invited Bill to come home with him, but I found excuses. Then came the heartache that I will always suffer.

On my birthday Bill came home from school with a grimy piece of paper folded into a very small square. Unfolding it, I found three flowers and "Happy Birthday" crayoned on the paper—and a nickel.

"That's from Roger," said Bill. "It's his milk money. When I said today was your birthday he made me bring it to you. He said you are his friend, 'cause you're the only mother that didn't make him get another desk partner."

Less members, more $s

Donations to American churches rose last year, though most of the major denominations counted fewer members—an apparent paradox reflecting the deeper Christian commitment of today's members as opposed to other years when church membership was often seen as the "thing to do" for social and business reasons.

An annual roundup of figures from 41 national Protestant denominations shows their 46 million members contributed at a record per capita rate averaging $107.78 each.

While the overall giving was up 7.7 per cent for 1973, the dollar lost 9.6 per cent of its purchasing power, which left the churches short in actual financial means from the previous year.

The statistics, gathered by the National Council of Churches, show that contributions in the 41 denominations totaled about $5 billion.

For the second year in succession, the new report shows that in most of the denominations had fewer members, but they are giving more money.

Ten principal denominations with a total of 27.8 million members, down by 1.8 per cent from the previous year's membership, reported contributions up 5.5 per cent.

Only the Southern Baptist Convention, among larger Protestant bodies, had a membership gain, up 1.9 per cent to 12.3 million, coupled with a large gain in contributions, up 11.1 per cent.

As in previous years, the bulk of the contributions stayed home, being used for local parish or congregational expenses. These took up about $3.9 billion, 83 per cent of the total.

Terms to know to understand business today

By United Press International

A glossary of commonly used economic terms:

DEPRESSION

An extended period of economic decline with exceedingly high unemployment, low corporate profits, low prices, drastic production cutbacks and bankruptcies. The United States had two severe depressions, in 1873-79 and 1929-33.

RECESSION

A short period of economic decline with moderately high unemployment, some reduction in corporate profits, a slight decline in industrial production and somewhat lower prices. Since World War II but exluding the present, the United States has been through five recessions — 1948 -49, 1953-54, 1957-58, 1960-61 and 1969-70. The average length was 12 months.

INFLATION

Continually spiraling prices and wages, each feeding on the other to produce even higher prices and wages. A normal annual rate of inflation would be 2 to 4 per cent.

DOUBLE DIGIT INFLATION

When inflation increases at an annual rate in excess of 10 per cent as it is today at 12 per cent.

STAGFLATION

A term used to describe an economic slowdown (a recession) and higher prices (inflation) at the same time. Popularly used to describe the present economic situation.

CONSUMER PRICE INDEX

GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT

A government measurement of the value of a nation's total output of goods and services. The GNP for the United States last year was $1.4 trillion.

PRIME RATE

The rate commercial banks charge their most creditworthy corporate customers and the base from which interest for most other loans — business and consumer — is scaled upwards. The prime rate now is about 10 1-2 per cent; most consumer loans run about 18 per cent.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

The nation's central banking mechanism, an autonomous government body, to which all commercial banks chartered by the federal government must below. State-chartered banks may belong. The Fed, as it is sometimes called, controls the flow of money within the nation's banking system.

MONETARY POLICY

Most generally used to describe the way the Federal Reserve controls the nation's money supply.

TIGHT MONEY

The situation when the Federal Reserve restricts the money supply into the banking system to reduce credit available to corporations and consumers. To control inflation, the Fed imposed a tight money policy to decrease the amount of money available to spend.

EASY MONEY

The condition when the Federal Reserve allows a free flow of money into the economy to stimulate business activity, industrial expansion and more jobs. This would be used to counteract a severe recession or a depression.

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS

The difference between the value of goods a country exports and those it imports. A negative balance of payments results when a country imports more than it exports — a trade imbalance. A favorable balance occurs when a country exports more than it imports.

PETRODOLLARS

Surplus funds accumulated by major oil exporting countries, chiefly Arab nations and Iran, through quadrupling oil prices. Conservative estimates place the surplus at $60 billion.

INDUSTRY WEEK

Business cautious as Yule approaches

CLEVELAND — A merry Christmas may be an important clue to prospects for a happy new year, at least in terms of consumer spending plans, Industry Week magazine reported Friday.

Nearly half of the consumers surveyed in one major metropolitan area, however, plan to spend less on gifts than a year ago, the magazine for managers finds. But one of the most persistent features of the American consumer is an ability to upset predictions, especially pessimistic predictions.

Highly regarded consumer confidence surveys find the outlook for the future more bleak than it has been in nearly a generation. But others believe consumer spending can be more accurately predicted by analyzing the impact of movements in monetary and fiscal policy.

And, after showing sluggish growth between June and September, the money supply showed signs of more rapid growth in October. Retail sales could get an extra fillip from the reacceleration of monetary growth, some analysts believe.

OUTWARDLY, inflation has distorted the real trend in consumer purchasing. From June, 1973, through September, 1974, total retail sales in current dollars have increased more than 12 percent. But, if the effect of inflation is excluded, "real" retail sales dropped about 2 percent over the period, says Industry Week.

This has led some economists to conclude that consumer spending is "sick" right now. And, because many believe the consumer again holds the key to economic activity, they are fearful of the future.

How well has the consumer been doing financially? Total personal incomes are running about 9 percent ahead of a year ago, according to Commerce Department figures, the magazine notes. That hasn't kept pace with inflation, and the consumer savings rate is down.

So, the reason "real" sales are slumping is the high rate of inflation, which has not only distorted but also helped hold down consumer purchases.

HOPE NOW is that recent shifts from product shortages to surpluses and the resulting inventory bulges have removed some of the pressures from prices, Industry Week reports.

Evidence that price pressures are easing can be found in the most recent survey of purchasing managers who report more lower prices than at any time in the last 12 years, notes the magazine.

These lower prices at the manufacturing level may soon add to the attractiveness of products the consumer buys.

In addition, the rate of inflation is generally expected to fall back somewhat. This could mean a greater proportion of the consumer dollar would move into the income stream that helps move goods in the marketplace with less being dissipated in higher prices, Industry Week concludes.

Little calculators can spew nighmarish figures

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The pocket electronic calculator remains a hot item for retailers despite declining consumer enthusiasm, probably because it makes it possible to determine where you are in relation to inflation.

Think about it: When prices are rising at 1 or 1.5 per cent, as they did in the late 1950s and early 1960s, a simple pencil or an abacus can tell you what your dollar will be worth 10 years hence.

When they're rising at 12.1 per cent, as they did from September 1973 through September 1974, you really can't determine quickly that a $12,000 income would have to grow to $37,604 by 1984 in order to buy as much.

But with a calculator you just punch out the magic number 3.1337. Multiplying any sum by that number will tell you how much money you'd have to have in 1984 to match that sum's buying power in 1974, if inflation continues at the same rate.

This is one of the little exercises that the savings and loan people — some of whom offer calculators as premiums — believe will shock Americans into doing their bit to slow the rise in prices.

Preparing for their annual meeting, in San Francisco, members of the U.S. League of Savings Associations have used their calculators to produce some nightmarish statistics.

USING THAT key number — which means it will take $3.13 by 1984 to buy what a dollar gets you today or, to put it another way, that the 1984 dollar will be worth less than 32 cents in comparison with the 1974 dollar — they find:

—Even if you paid no income tax, to match the buying power of a $7,500 annual income today you would have to earn $23,503 in 1984, if the present rate of inflation continues.

The first phrase of that preceding paragraph is, of course, almost meaninglness. Not only will you have to pay a tax; but unless the tax laws are changed you'll be in a higher, more expensive tax bracket.

—By 1984, anyone looking forward to a retirement pension of $1,000 a month would need a monthly income of $3,818 to buy the equivalent in 1974 dollars.

—A $10,000 life insurance policy would, by 1984, provide just $3,191 in terms of 1974 dollars. A $25,000 policy would provide $7,978 of protection.

Bad enough? It can be worse, say league officials. Some consumer items rise faster than others. At present rates of increase it observes these prices 10 years from now:

—A $20 bag of groceries — $80.91.

—A $2.50 plate lunch — $8.79. (And don't forget the tip.)

—A 15-cent newspaper — 62 cents.

Beer drinkers will recognize how hideous the situation could become by calculating the 1984 price of a six-pack — around $3.30 — if present trends continue.

"OBVIOUSLY this kind of inflation is intolerable and will not be accepted by the American people," said George Preston, president of both the association and the Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan, West Palm Beach, Fla.

But just to shock you further, and document the theme of their convention, "Theres No Living with Inflation," the little calculators at association headquarters flicked out these horrors:

—From 1967 through July 1974 the biggest increases among the items in the Consumer Price Index were dried beans, 318 per cent, potatoes, 178,sugar, 166, and rice, 144.

—In fifth place was home heating oil, showing an increase of nearly 118 per cent. And just three places lower in the standings was the price of a semiprivate hospital room, up 103 per cent.

Viewing these figures, league officials commented: "One of the most demoralizing things about inflation is that prices of goods and services people need the most tend to go up the most."

No, there's no living with inflation. It could be the death of us, reading all those calculated nightmares.

Marie Dupont has been appointed manager of the Bank of America office at the Naval Support Activity on Terminal Island, Regional Vice President H. H. Jackson, said Friday.

Mrs. Dupont, with Bank of America since 1962, takes the post after one year as an operations assistant at the First and Pine office in Long Beach.

She succeeds Wilma Baney, assigned to the bank's new office near the Long Beach Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Dupont joined the bank as a switchboard operator in Oxnard and was assigned to operations duties in 1971 at the Lincoln-Knott office in Buena Park.

She lives in Cypress with her husband and two children.

Name change

DALLAS, Tex. — The United States Savings and Loan League officially changed its name to the United States League of Savings Associations.

The motion to change the trade group's legal name was approved by the League membership at the final general session of the group's 81st annual convention.

George B. Preston, newly-elected president, explained that the slight change in name was part of a program to update and modernize the league's graphic materials.

Cerritos South sets April center opening

Cerritos South Shopping Center, containing 53,000 square feet of space, is under construction in Cerritos. Occupancy slated for April 1, the downtown Los Angeles office of Grubb & Ellis Co., the exclusive leasing agent, announced.

Being developed by Hollingsworth-Arnett, Inc. of Los Angeles, the four-building project is located directly across South Street from the Los Cerritos Mall, next to Toys "R" Us store and catty-corner from Fedco.

The five-acre development will include a restaurant containing approximately 7,000 square feet plus the three additional retail buildings and parking for more than 300 cars.

"CERRITOS South offers the only remaining location opposite Los Cerritos Center, one of California's most successful regional shopping centers, which did a 1973 sales volume of more than $125 million last year," said Grubb & Ellis leasing managers Ray Mueller and Larry Anderson.

"Fedco also does a large volume and both have huge parking areas, so it will be especially easy for shoppers to cover all of their needs with but one stop," added Mueller.

Cerritos South is served by three main freeways, the Santa Ana (5), the San Gabriel (605) and the Artesia-Riverside (91) as well as being easily accessible to residents of the adjacent cities of Lakewood, Artesia, Bellflower, Norwalk and Santa Fe Springs.

Architect is Neil Stanton Palmer & Associates of Palos Verdes Peninsula.

Business workshop set Dec. 9

The joys and pitfalls of starting a new business will be discussed in depth during a free, day-long Small Business Administration Workshop scheduled in Los Angeles on Dec. 9 by the United States Small Business Administration.

The session will be held in the Los Angeles Police Auditorium, Parker Center, 150 N. Los Angeles St. from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Registration will begin at 8.

Howard C. Whiteaker, management assistance officer, said the workshop is part of a plan designed to make SBA programs more accessible to existing and prospective small businessmen and women of the area.

The primary focus will be to explain the problems common to newly established businesses and to explain the key factors necessary for success, Whiteaker said.

Specific topics will include taxes, capitalization, management problems, legal requirements and business locations. Leading the discussion groups will be both local businessmen and SBA staff members.

At the conclusion of each workshop segment, question and answer sessions will be held.

Lion country shows deficit

IRVINE — Lion Country Safari, Inc. (OTC) reports a 9 per cent decline in third-quarter revenues from $3,778,932 to $3,428,773, with an after-tax profit of 10 cents per share, down 13 cents from last year's comparable three-months period.

Harry Shuster, president and board chairman of the nationwide chain of African wildlife preserves and theme-amusement parks, said year-to-date revenues are down $507,746.

Coupled with increasing costs of operation, Shuster said, the company's net loss for the nine-months period was $440,187, contrasted against a net gain of $151,088 for the comparable time last year.

BUSINESS TODAY: Not comfortable for the 'bigs'

Public feels performance not at an effective level

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Except perhaps in terms of profits, these aren't very comfortable days for big business.

The utilities are under attack from customers, ecologists, politicians and others. The automotive companies are criticized for their pricing policies and polluting ways. The biggest railroad, the Penn Centl, is being operated in bankruptcy. Some airlines are in a regulatory bind.

Health insurers know all about the troubles that bigness can bring. They are in a fight, as they view it, for their very existence, a fight that if lost might reduce them to mere clerks in a national health insurance program.

Nothing crystalizes the fight that big business is in more than the government's antitrust action against American Telephone & Telegraph, a company that serves 80 per cent of Americans and which is financially more powerful than most nations of the earth.

AT&T is the symbol. It is huge almost beyond comprehension. It employs more than one million workers. Its assets exceed $67 billion. It has raised its net income every year but one since 1947, earning $2.95 billion last year.

WHETHER the attacks against big business today are based strictly in the legalities — in an effort, that is, to preserve the pre-eminence of law over individuals or corporations — will continue to be argued.

Most of the attacks, from wherever they originate — consumer, ecologist, elected representative — eventually take a legal form. But this doesn't disguise completely the likelihood that political motivation might lay at the base.

To attack big business today seems to be good politics. A good portion of the public feels it hasn't performed as effectively as it should in holding down prices or in serving the public. It is too noncompetitive, too burdened with its own bureaucracy, too self-serving, the critics says.

WHILE MANY companies consider themselves marvels of managerial and technological efficiency, the public often has a different attitude, viewing them as dinosaurs possessed of ravenous, ruinous appetites and selfish disdain.

With prices rising throughout the world, many people wonder whatever became of the "economies of volume" they had read about in Economics 1. The utilities grow larger and so do their prices. The carmakers, giants of industry, raise their prices almost as often as sugar processors.

The giants have difficulty explaining that if they must pay billions of dollars for ecologically desirable improvements, or improve their employe fringe benefits, or pay higher raw material prices they must pass some of the cost on to customers.

A COMPANY such as International Business Machines, also under an antitrust attack, finds it difficult to proveto the public that it is really improving its efficiency, because there is little to measure its figures against— except its own history.

AT&T is in the same position in attempting to to prove its efficiency.

To a great degree it really has no competition and, as many an AT&T man will argue,, it really should not. Its efficiency, they say, lies in monopoly.

John D. deButts, chairmnan, told shareholders in the 1973 annual report that the industry has throughout its history been "a natural monopoly." He questioned the arbitrary division of the market between ourselves and others..."

AT&T HAD sufficient experience with selective competition "and enough time to examine its long-term consequences," he said, to have reached the conclusion that: "... whenever and wherever its further extension is proposed without sufficient examination of its impact on the public, our obligation to our customers requires us to oppose it with all the energies we can command."

AT&T clearly believes it has a mission to operate an integrated service and that such integration means strength for both AT&T and the country.

By BOB MARTIN
TV-Radio Editor

The smiling face of Tom Snyder won't be seen on Channel 4's news programs any more.

I, along with many others, will miss him a great deal. But some TV viewers won't miss him at all.

You either loved Tom as a news anchorman or you couldn't stand him. The latter probably didn't tune him in after the first few times.

I watched his news programs more than any other in the 6-to-7 p.m. weekday slot because I enjoyed it the most.

Snyder made his final appearance Thursday on the program. He moves on to what he hopes will be bigger and better things with WNBC in New York City, as was announced a number of weeks ago he would do.

Tom's late-late-night network "Tomorrow" show (1 a.m., Ch. 4) will originate in Burbank for four more nights, next Monday through Thursday. Johnny Carson will be his guest for the final Burbank show.

Starting Monday, Dec. 2, "Tomorrow" moves its home base to New York. Tom will continue to be the host, along with doing the news for WNBC.

PAUL MOYER takes over for KNBC as the 6 p.m. news anchorman, and John Schubeck, who has joined Channel 4 from Channel 7, replaces Paul in the 11 p.m. weekday news slot.

Snyder's pals at Channel 4 poked a lot of fun at him in a taped segment of Thursday's program. Even Gov. Ronald Reagan and Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley got in the act.

On the day before, John Barbour, Channel 4's critic-at-large, "reviewed" Snyder on Tom's show. It was one of humorist Barbour's funniest efforts.

Commentator Bob Abernethy had Snyder as his interview guest Thursday on Jess Marlow's news program, which airs from 5 to 6 p.m. on the same channel.

Tom said most criticism doesn't bother him but that he did resent the labeling of his show as "The Tom Snyder comedy hour." He felt that was unfair to everyone connected with the program, which for the most part dealt seriously with the news.

He told Bob that although he had felt very secure in his position at KNBC he was quite apprehensive about his new job in New York. He didn't know how the critics, the network bigshots and the New York viewers would take to him.

I don't think Tom will lose much sleep over it, though. And he'll come out OK.

Now, if he can just come up with another Ross Porter and Kelly Lange . . .

"THE GODFATHER," which aired last Saturday and Monday nights on NBC, wasn't as popular throughout the nation as it was in New York City and Los Angeles, where 72 per cent and 66 per cent of the viewers, respectively, tuned in the first evening's segment.

Part I of the Oscar-winning 1972 movie led the national Nielsen ratings for the week that ended last Sunday with a 37.0 rating and 61 per cent audience share.

Though seen in more than 25 million homes, it did not attract as large an audience as NBC officials had expected. Three movies that have aired on television posted higher figures in the Nielsen ratings. "Airport," which aired last November on ABC, is the leader with a 42.3 rating and 63 share, followed by "Love Story" and "The Poseidon Adventure," also shown on ABC.

Part II of "The Godfather" almost certainly will be the Nielsen leader for the week ending tomorrow. The overnight ratings gave it a 39.6 rating and a 58 share of audience.

FOOTBALL fans get two college "biggies" on Channel 7 today: Michigan vs. Ohio State at 9:45 a.m., followed by USC vs. UCLA.

WAR OF ROSES RAGES ON TWO FRONTS

Trojans by 15; 90,000 due

By LOEL SCHRADER
Staff Writer

USC and UCLA will have to quit meeting this way.

People are starting to talk about them.

For the third consecutive year and the fifth time in the last eight seasons, these fierce, crosstown rivals will meet today for the city championship, the Pacific-8 title and the league's bid to the Rose Bowl.

Kickoff time for the nationally and locally (Ch. 7) televised game in the Coliseum is 1:05 p.m. A near-capacity crowd of 90,000 is expected.

USC, which has displayed a knockout punch in its last two games, is a 15-point favorite to extend its conference unbeaten streak to a record 25.

Ch. 7, 1:05 p.m.

- If USC gets a win or a tie, the Trojans will go to the Rose Bowl for the seventh time in nine years.
- If UCLA wins and Cal either ties or defeats Stanford, the Bruins will earn their first Rose Bowl invitation since Jan. 1, 1966.
- If UCLA wins and Stanford defeats Cal, the Rose Bowl issue would remain undecided until Saturday, Nov. 30, at which time the Trojans would need to defeat Notre Dame in order to clinch a bowl berth.

"I don't understand the selection formula and I don't want to talk about it," he says. "Our answer is to win the game. If we're not good enough to beat UCLA, we don't deserve to go to the Rose Bowl."

There has been the usual amount of "conning" by the coaches this past week.

UCLA coach Dick Vermeil said early in the week that "USC is the best team in the country when they (the Trojans) want to play."

Not to be outdone, McKay responded: "UCLA is by far the best team we've faced this season."

Bucks by 8 before 88,000

Combined News Services

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Fourth-ranked Ohio State is an eight-point favorite to whip revengeful, third-ranked Michigan today and earn its third successive trip to the Rose Bowl.

If the oddsmakers are correct, it would mark the third year in a row that the bitter rivals have shared the Big Ten championship. Uncommonly warm weather—60 degrees and variable cloudiness—is in store for a record crowd of almost 88,000 that will jam Ohio Stadium.

Millions more will watch the game on national television (channel 7, 9:30 a.m.).

If 10-0-0 Michigan wins or ties, the Wolverines are outright Big Ten champions. A telephone vote by conference athletic directors to select the Rose Bowl team would be a formality.

Should 9-1-0 Ohio State win, the athletic directors would meet in Chicago Sunday to pick the conference's most representative squad for the New Year's Day Classic in Pasadena.

Ch. 7, 9:30 a.m.

Michigan players as well as their coach, Bo Schembechler, haven't forgotten their disappointment over last year's 10-10 tie with the Buckeyes. The athletic directors voted to send Ohio State bowling. Schembechler charged commissioner Wayne Duke meddled in the decision.

"The bitterness hasn't worn off and I'm not looking forward to this coming to a vote again," the Michigan coach said. "But I figure if we win or tie, we're going to the Rose Bowl. We would be outright champions. If they beat us, then they would go."

Schembechler then put the game in its meaningful perspective.

"We've got to win," he said. "It means everything to us."

Hayes agrees: "The team that wins will go to the Rose Bowl. I don't think there is any question about that."

Hayes, asked if the Bucks learned anything from their upset defeat at the hands of Michigan State, said, "I'm sure of it. There is nothing total about defeat. We were too complacent but you can't keep winning 80-0 every week.

Hayes also reported that defensive back Neal

Lancers fall to Anaheim, 20-3

By GARY ELLIS

Lakewood High, known for its errorless style of football, committed five turnovers and fell to No. 3 Empire League representative Anaheim, 20-3, at Veterans Stadium in the first-round of CIF, 4-A playoffs.

Anaheim, utilizing a contain defense, kept Lakewood deep in its own territory. The Lancers started drives from the 20, 38, 17, 11, 20, 20, 15, 22 and 31. Their only score came on a Bill Raine 38-yard field goal in the first quarter after Don Dorazio returned a kickoff 17 yards to the Lakewood 38.

Errors cost the Lancers dearly.

Early in the first quarter, Lakewood quarterback Raine fumbled on his 40 and the ball was recovered by Jose Echevarria. Anaheim quarterback Morris Bledsoe marched his club the distance in six play with Brad Harline scoring the first of his two touchdowns on a two-yard run with 8:07 remaining in the first quarter. Don Sheppard converted.

Another fumble, this time in the final five minutes of the contest, locked up the surprising win for Anaheim.

Bledsoe, who kept the Lancers bottled up most of the evening with fine punts, kicked to Greg Mori. Mori signaled for a fair catch but fumbled and Jacinto Chavez recovered on the Lancer two. Harline scored on the next play.

Between the costly fumbles, the Lancers found the going tough. Anaheim let the Lancers run—Raine gained 84 yards on 18 carries and Dorazio 69 on 17—but not score. The Lakewood offense gained 201 total yards

Newport ousts Hares, 25-14

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

Four interceptions and a field goal kicker by the name Art Sorce booted Poly High out of the CIF playoffs Friday night.

Sorce kicked a record Southern Section four field goals to lead Sunset League champion Newport Harbor to a relatively easy 25-14 decision over the visiting Jackrabbits.

A near-capacity turnout, in excess of 8,000 at Davidson Field on the Newport campus, watched Sorce sock it to the Jackrabbits with soccer-style boots of 25, 26, 31 and 22 yards—more chip shots for the 6-1, 210-pound linebacker.

Prior to Friday, Sorce's shortest field goal had been 33 yards, his longest 52 in a season that now sees his total at 13—also a CIF record.

But it was more than Sorce that did in the Jackrabbits.

Poly, as so many times this season, came upon its own downfall through costly mistakes and turnovers.

TEAM STATISTICS

The most frustrating Friday night were an illegal procedure call and holding penalty that nullified 52 and 41-yard pass plays late in the second quarter when the Jackrabbits were trailing only 16-7.

The first completion would have given Poly a first down on the Newport four, the second a first down on the one.

Rene Reynolds and Tony Hartley caught the passes from Greg Hopkins.

Hopkins, however, was then victimized by his second of three interceptions after the long gainer to Hartley and Newport was able to run out the final 16 seconds of the first half.

Poly had taken a 7-0 lead at 3:47 of the first quarter when Hopkins, on fourth down from the seven, hit Reynolds moving away from Newport defender Rich Harrison in the end zone.

The 66-yard, 13-play march had come about when the Jackrabbits recovered a Newport fumble at the Sailor 34.

Newport, after settling for a 25-yard field goal by Sorce to cut the margin to 7-3 on the second play of the second quarter, took the lead for good only four snaps later.

Safety Ron Lamerton intercepted a Hopkins pass and ran down the sidelines 43 yards to the Poly five. After Brian Theriot was stopped for no gain, Steve Foley got the touchdown at left guard and the Sailors were ahead for good, 10-7.

Rockets fizzle at Forum, 89-83

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

It wasn't artistic, but the Lakers were happy to get it.

That was the story of their victory Friday night, a grinding 89-83 decision over the Houston Rockets at the Forum in a game where defense dominated.

Not noted for their defensive expertise, the Lakers frustrated the pattern-oriented Houston offense, limiting the Rockets to a skimpy 33 points in the second half.

The NBA's top shooting team, Houston led 50-43 at halftime and should have been ahead by much more as the nervous Lakers time and again turned the ball over.

Lucius Allen, who did little right in the first half, emerged as the ace, scoring seven points in the final period, including five in a row to turn a two-point Laker lead into a safe seven-point margin with 2:07 remaining.

Zelmo Beaty, who didn't play one minute until Elmore Smith cursed both referees and was ejected in the third stanza, contributed 10 points and 6 rebounds down the stretch to give Allen a helping hand.

Gail Goodrich led the Lakers with 23 points, 15 in the first half. His sharpshooting kept the Lakers from being buried in the first 24 minutes.

Coach Bill Sharman's new lineup paid dividends in an unexpected way. First-time starter Stan Love was expected to provide offensive punch, but he couldn't buy a basket.

However, the former Oregon star turned in an excellent defensive performance on Rudy Tomjanovich, Houston's top point producer. Tomjanovich was held to 14 points, a season low.

Smith, who replaced Beaty in the pivot, was effective until he was thumbed out. Pat Riley, moved to the backcourt for the first time this sea-

WE'LL BE BACK, WFL OWNERS INSIST

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) —World Football League owners Friday declared that the WFL will definitely operate next year and decided the only problem in the troubled infant professional league is owners "who didn't have enough dollars to operate properly."

The owners of the 10 existing franchises also agreed, after meeting behind closed doors to discuss their problems, to appoint Hawaiian franchise owner Chris Hemmeter as league president.

"There is nothing the matter with the World Football League that strong ownership won't fix," John Bassett Jr., owner of the Memphis Southmen and chairman of the league executive committee, told newsmen as the meeting continued into the night.

"A lot of the owners didn't have enough dollars to operate properly," he said in explaining why many of the teams are behind in paying players' salaries, taxes and other bills.

Bassett said potential new owners will be in Memphis today to meet with league officials, but that no announcements of new ownership agreements should be expected until after the first of the year. He added that Joe Namath is one of three persons considering establishing a franchise in New York.

Cal vs. Irvine in NCAA finals

By FRANK BURLISON

UC Irvine upset UCLA, 5-3, in the semi-finals Friday night to set up a rematch with California in the NCAA water polo championships tonight at Belmont Plaza Olympic Pool.

Cal, which defeated Irvine in last season's title game, 8-4, and the Anteaters will be striving to win their second titles in tonight's match, scheduled to start at 8:45 p.m.

Friday's action was viewed by a crowd estimated at 2,500.

Cal won both of its matches by 12-3 scores, over Air Force and then Fullerton State in the semi-finals.

Irvine had an easy time in its first match, topping UC Santa Barbara 10-6 after leading the Gauchos 6-1 in the first half.

The Bruin-Anteater match was scoreless after the first period. Two goals by Irvine's Bret Bernard in the second period sparked the Anteaters to a 3-1 lead at intermission.

Irvine moved out to a 5-2 lead in the fourth period, then saw its lead cut to 5-3 with 4:10 left in the match.

But good ball control in the final minutes protected the lead and gave Irvine a berth in the finals.

Other first round matches Friday saw Fullerton top UC Davis 7-4 and UCLA beat Stanford 9-5.

Lynwood advanced to the second round of the 3-A CIF playoffs by defeating El Modena Friday night, but it wasn't easy.

The second place representative from the San Gabriel Valley League had to score a last-second touchdown to tie the contest 14-14, and outduel El Modena in the special tie-breaker which followed to notch a 15-14 victory.

Trailing 14-7 with 1:55 remaining in the game, Lynwood took possession at its own 22-yard line following a punt. The Knights moved 78 yards in 11 plays, scoring on a 20-yard pass from Rick Molina to Ferrell Mack with four seconds remaining.

Richard Thomas gained five yards on the first play of the tie-breaker, and the Knights never looked back. They added 15 yards on a pass interference play, and nine yards on another run by Thomas before losing a yard on the last play. El Modena failed to complete a pass in four attempts, securing the victory for Lynwood.

Thomas and Eric Humphry provided the offensive spark for Lynwood. Humphry gained 115 yards in seven carries, including romps of 47, 13, 22 and 17 yards. Thomas carried 21 times for 109 yards.

ST. JOHN BOSCO vastly outplayed a host North Torrance team in the second half of its contest to register a 29-9 victory.

Dan Morovick, who fired four touchdown passes, engineered two Brave touchdown drives in the final two quarters, enabling St. John to gain control of what had been a close game.

In the second half, the Braves outgained North Torrance 126 yards to 47 yards in rushing, and over-all held a 208-146 advantage

Fred Ford picked up 121 yards on the ground for St. John, boosting the attack led by Morovick. The senior quarterback hit Steve Scully for three touchdowns, one a 65-yard bomb that put the Braves ahead for good in the second quarter.

Mayfair, Gahr and Neff record playoff victories

Fullback Rich Thompson scored two touchdowns and quarterback Joe Roberts passed for 156 yards and a score to lead Mayfair High to a 19-7 victory over El Toro Friday night in the opening round of the CIF 2-A playoffs at Mission Viejo High.

Mayfair scored first on five-play 38-yard drive. Craig McSparran's punt return set up a Roberts' 26-yard pass to Rich Johnson that gave the Monsoons a first-and-goal at the El Toro two. Johnson banged over on the next play.

The Monsoons went up by 12 when Roberts hit Scott Gurein with a 20-yard TD pass at 4:59 of the second period to cap a 7-play, 55-yard drive.

El Toro came back with a long five minute drive, covering 64 yards in 13 plays. Gary Key hit Jeff Green with a 3-yard TD toss with 1:05 remaining in the half. Key booted the extra point to cut the lead to five.

The Monsoons widened the lead to 19-7 at 7:40 of the third quarter as Johnson capped a 13-play, 57-yard march with a 3-yard scoring burst. A 32-yard Roberts to Gurein pass set up the score.

In other 2-A action, Gahr nipped San Clemente, 25-20, as time ran out on a last-second San Clemente rally at Cerritos College.

Harold Gillum scored twice for the victors. He ran four yards for the initial score of the game and 25 for the winning touchdown.

The rushing star of the game, however, was San Clemente tailback Randy Adams who ran for 145 yards on 33 carries. Adams also tallied once for the Tritons.

Neff High exploded for 14 point in the second half Friday night to defeat its first round opponent, Workman, 21-6.

Terry Coman put the Galdiators out front when he ended a 75-yard drive with a 24-yard touchdown run.

On Workman's next possession, Mark Lara recovered a fumble early in the second quarter on the Workman 27 and five plays later Coman scored again, this time from the four.

The Colonists also intercepted three Raine passes.

Lakewood appeared to gain momentum following Anaheim's first score.

Raine, running the bootleg and Dorazio banging off guard, carried the Lancers from their 38 to the Anaheim five on second down. But on third down, Raine, under a heavy rush, was called for intentionally grounding the ball, a penalty which sent the Lancers to the Colonists 20, from where the quarterback kicked his field goal.

The drive was halted for more than 10 minutes when the back judge suffered a broken leg. A substitute referee, Don Berberet, came out of the stands to work the rest of the contest.

Vikings end disappointing campaign at Bakersfield

BY PAUL McLEOD
Staff Writer

With the conference title being decided elsewhere, only pride will be at stake in Bakersfield's Memorial Stadium tonight when Long Beach City College tackles the Renegades at 7:30.

Long Beach and Bakersfield are tied for third. Both were considered possible titleholders in pre-season polls. The Renegades can improve their record to 7-2 with a victory—the best they've accomplished since winning the conference title in 1971.

Games Tonight
Long Beach at Bakersfield.
Pasadena at El Camino.
Pierce at L.A. Valley.

Long Beach is faced with a perplexing situation. Win or lose, the Vikings will finish with their worst record since 1970 when the team failed to win a game. Bakersfield holds a 20-11-3 edge in the series. The Vikings have won the last two contests, including last year's last-second 38-35 victory at Veterans Stadium.

In Gardena, more than the Metropolitan championship will be decided when Pasadena pits its powerful running game against the aerial attack of El Camino College.

The Pasadena-El Camino meeting will be for the national junior college title. Pasadena (9-0) rides the top of the national polls, while El Camino (8-0-1) is ranked third.

El Camino holds a 4-2 series record, dating back to 1968.

In other action the "San Fernando Valley" championship will be decided tonight when four-time conference losers Pierce College and L.A. Valley battle to escape the Metro cellar. Valley has lost 25 consecutive conference encounters while Pierce has not won a game since the second week of the season.

How to get there

Take 405 north to Interstate 5 junction and continue north to Hwy. 99. Head north on 99 to Bakersfield crosstown Fwy.-(24th St.). Go right (east) on 24th St. to Mt. Citrus leads with an 8-0-1 mark...Indian Hills, Iowa, remains No. 2 in the nation, separating No. 1 Pasadena and No. 3 El Camino. Travels to Orange Coast tonight

Cerritos could scramble things

By DAVE WIELENGA
Staff Writer

Although its chances of securing a piece of the South Coast Conference crown are slim, Cerritos College will be playing for more than pride when it travels to LeBard Stadium to duel Orange Coast College tonight at 7:30.

The Falcons, 2-2 and sharing third place with three other schools, could help throw the race into a four-way tie with a victory. For the Pirates, who are 3-1 and tied with Fullerton for the league lead, a win would assure them a berth in the state playoffs due to an early-season win over the Hornets.

"Orange Coast is playing for the title so naturally it will be up," said Falcon coach Ernie Johnson. "But we've still got a chance and we've got to play accordingly."

"Cerritos has a very fine club and we're going to have to put together a great effort to beat it," admitted Orange Coast coach Dick Tucker. "They're well grounded in fundamentals and don't make many mistakes."

Sophomore quarterback Duane Matthews, the conference's total offense leader with 1,206 yards, will head a Cerritos offense which is second in the SCC, averaging 4.5 yards per play and 300 yards per game.

However, Orange Coast has intercepted 24 passes this season and has held every opponent under 100 yards rushing, surrendering just 78.6 yards per game on the ground in conference play.

Injuries have sidelined the Pirates' two top quarterbacks and their leading receiver but the offense remains potent.

Freshman Tony Accomando, who has gathered 482 yards and leads the conference with a 5.6-yard per carry average, heads a backfield that boasts Mike Nanko (381 yards) and Pete Brown (270).

Cerritos leads the series 5-4 but Orange Coast has won three of the last four games, including a 13-10 win last season that was finally decided with 14 seconds to play.

Riley's defense against Mike Newlin also was a contributing factor in the outcome which snapped a two-game Laker losing streak and lifted their record to 6-9.

Newlin finished with 21 points, but he missed 8 of 9 field goal tries in the third period.

The Rockets, harassed constantly by the Laker defense, missed 20 of 25 attempts in the third stanza and didn't fare much better in the closing period.

The defense was so stifling that Zaid Abdul-Aziz, Houston's center, didn't get off a shot in the second half after scoring 12 points in the first two periods. The Rockets just couldn't penetrate.

"We had a hand in their faces all night," said Laker coach Bill Sharman. "That was one of our better efforts, because it's obvious we didn't win this game on offense."

Houston coach Johnny Egan agreed.

"They played us real tough in the second half." he said.

Long Beach's Ed Ratleff netted six points and grabbed five rebounds in only 14 minutes, playing at guard. He has been used primarily at forward.

But despite a good effort, Ratleff was pulled out midway in the fourth period when Egan went with Dave Wohl to run his offense. Wohl and Newlin were ineffective.

The championship of the Pacific-8 will be decided this afternoon, but from the pulsebeat on the respective campuses Friday, UCLA and USC students are treating it like the Apathy Bowl.

Students at USC danced over small puddles en-route to classes, the evidence of Thursday night's shower. The air was clean, the San Bernardino Mountains visible through a smogless sky.

Tommy Trojan was dressed up like a huge Christmas package. All he was missing was a red ribbon and bow.

It's been years since UCLA students have fought through USC support groups to deposit buckets and blue and gold paint and steal Tommy's sword.

There is some question whether such protection is still a necessity. Some USC students aren't even aware of the tradition.

"Oh, is that why he's covered?" says Judi Bemke, a freshman from Monrovia. "I thought they were trying to protect him from the rain."

What's become of the younger generation?

Outside the student union the air smells of Friday's luncheon menu. There are no banners on the walls, nothing to remind students that their school is going for its seventh trip to the Rose Bowl in nine years.

Inside the bookstore a poster featuring all-America tailback Anthony Davis is selling for $2. Below it are three recent books dealing with Trojan football. On a dusty back shelf are two-year-old "We're No. 1" buttons.

Sprinkled in newspaper bins across the campus are 1,000 copies of a parody issue of Friday's Daily Trojan. It is produced by the staff of UCLA's Daily Bruin and definitely X-rated.

A walk along the two-block stretch of 29th Street between Hoover and Figueroa finds only slightly more interest. This is "The Row," a colony of fraternity and sorority houses and long a bastion of Trojan spirit.

"Am I'm going to the game Saturday? Naw, It's too much a hassle. I'd rather drain a keg and watch it on TV," he says.

The drive across town to UCLA takes 15 minutes. While Bruin vandals have yet to leave their mark, their Trojan counterparts are accused of causing $10,000 worth of damage to parking gates on the Westwood campus.

The mechanisms of 22 parking gates were jammed with plastic library cards and airplane glue Tuesday evening. The library cards were those of USC students.

UCLA's annual pre-game rally is just beginning. The crowd is less than a third of the 3,000 in attendance last year. Bruins cheerleaders and song girls toss candy into the audience, trying to elicit some excitement.

"How mundane," says a curly haired youth with horn-rimmed glasses after being hit with a Kraft Caramel. Basketball players Richard Washington (6-9) and Wilbert Olinde (6-7) are particular targets of the candy throwers.

"I didn't even know there was a rally until yesterday," says linebacker Dale Curry. "With so little publicity, no wonder the crowd's so small."

Sciarra, his ankle wrapped in a Fiberglas cast, winks at a long-haired coed as assistant coach Jerry Long takes the stage.

"It's a strange atmosphere this season," says Sciarra. "We haven't run over anybody like last season and I guess nobody's giving us a chance, even our own student body."

Long is saying things that would be on the Trojan bulletin board if they were printable. Tight end Gene Bleymaier shakes his head in disbelief.

Curry's eyes look heavenward and his jaw drops. "Please don't say that, coach," he says to himself.

Another assistant coach, Lynn Stiles, replaces Long. More fire and brimstone. Then Long asks the football players to join them on stage.

Nudged on by friends, they slowly make their way forward. Sciarra gets the loudest ovation when he's introduced, the long-haired coed smiling proudly.

"I just can't see them pulling it off," says a fellow wearing bib over-alls.

"After all the talent we had last year and still lost, I've about given up," repies his barefooted friend. "They're either going to blow us out or we're going to squeak through in a fluke."

Five L.B. teams in volleyball play

Five teams from Long Beach are among 28 entries in today's men's fellowship volleyball tournament to be held in the men and women's gyms at Long Beach City College starting at 9 a.m.

Ski Mart of Belmont Shore, Opal's Beach Hut, Miller's Outpost and two teams from LBCC will compete in the six-pool event.

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

DENTON, Tex. - Long Beach State and North Texas State, at opposite ends of the spectrum in football philosophy, conclude their seasons today.

"We're probably as opposed in our thinking as two teams can be," says 49er coach Wayne Howard. "They use one basic defense and an offense that tries to do a little of everything.

"We have a very basic offense, we use only four or five different plays, and about 1,000 different defenses."

Hayden Fry's offense, while spectacular, has been inconsistent and is mostly responsible for the Mean Green's 2-6-2 record. But it has potential.

The North Texas quarterback is freshman Kenny Washington, younger brother of Oklahoma's sensational Joe Washington.

"Kenny was heavily recruited," says Howard. "He's small (158 pounds) and he's been somewhat erratic, but if he isn't contained, he can be sensational. He can run and throw."

Long Beach has a lot riding in a contest that will begin at 11 a.m. (PST). Objectives within reach include:

- A winning season. A triumph today would enable the 49ers, 1-9-1 a season ago, to finish with a four-game win streak and a 6-5 record.
- Membership in LBSU's exclusive 1,000-yard club for fullback Tommy Nathan. The senior from Mobile, Ala., needs 90 yards to join Terry Metcalf and Leon Burns as the only 49ers to rush for 1,000 yards in one season.

Getting that yardage will be an accomplishment. Nathan suffered an injured ankle in Long Beach's 34-33 victory over Western Michigan and was on crutches as late as Tuesday. He is with the team here, however, and will play.

- Membership in the 2,000-yard total offense club for quarterback Bob Dulich. The senior from San Diego needs 144 yards to join Jack Reilly as the only 49ers to accumulate that much yardage in a single season.

Dulich's school record 377 yards last week against Western Michigan hiked his total offense total to 1,856 yards and jumped him from 20th to eighth among the nation's leaders in that category.

There will be no live broadcast of the encounter, the third in a series Long Beach leads, 1-0-1, but radio station KNAC-FM (105.5) will provide pre-game, halftime and post-game reports.

USC FAVORED BY 15-

USC is 7-1-1 over-all and 5-0-1 in the Pacific-8 after a sluggish start.

The Trojans appear to be gathering momentum, decimating two good defensive teams, Stanford by 34-10 and Washington by 42-11, in their last two games.

UCLA is 7-2-2 on the year and 4-1-1 in the league.

But they have bounced back under the guidance of Jeff Dankworth and turned in a strong performance in defeating Oregon State, 33-14, last week in Corvallis.

Dankworth has fared well as a runner, but has completed only 8 of 21 passes for 121 yards and no touchdowns.

The importance of having a well-balanced attack against the Trojans was underscored by Vermeil.

"There's no way you can beat USC without throwing the football," says the Bruin coach. "We'll definitely have to throw the ball more."

USC has yielded only 92 points in nine games, the Bruins 140 in 10.

Of more than passing interest will be Anthony Davis' assault on O.J. Simpson's USC career rushing record.

The Trojan tailback needs only 10 yards to surpass the total of 3,423 established by Simpson in 1967-68.

Davis has had good success against UCLA.

Two years ago, A.D. gained 178 yards in 26 carries and scored on a 23-yard run. Last year, he had 145 yards in 27 carries and scored on a four-yard run.

If a significant number of Heisman Trophy ballots still remain in the possession of voting sports writers, a record-setting performance by Davis today could enhance his chances.

But the real war will be over roses.

OHIO ST.—

Colzie, hospitalized Wednesday night, would be ready to play today.

Two of Michigan's key players, both from Ohio, are more outspoken than their coach about the 1973 vote. "I won't forget last year's game," said Wolverine quarterback Dennis Franklin, who comes from football-famous Massillon.

Steve Strinko, a linebacker from Middletown, said: "Last year's vote is a motivating factor for me. I think we got the shaft."

The game will match a very strong Michigan defense against perhaps Ohio State's greatest offensive team. The Buckeyes already have established a school record of 4,713 total yards and are within five points of matching the school record of 413.

The principal reasons are tailback Archie Griffin and quarterback Cornelius Greene. Griffin, with 21 consecutive 100 yard games, is only 68 yards away from the Big Ten rushing record of 1,577 yards he set last year. "I don't care if he gets his 100 yards," Schembechler said, "as long as we keep him out of the end zone."

Greene needs just 51 total yards to break the Ohio State one-season record of 1,585 yards Rex Kern piled up five years ago.

Michigan's defense is first nationally against the rush and leads the Big Ten in three categories.

"At least nine of their players seem to be in on every stop," said Ralph Staub, an Ohio State assistant coach. "They are like bees to a hive."

A SNEAK PREVIEW? PIONEER PROTESTS

The first-round CIF 4-A football playoff between St. Paul and Pioneer was played under formal protest Friday night following alleged scouting violations by St. Paul.

The CIF, Southern Section, has scheduled an emergency executive committee meeting Monday, 10 a.m., to hear the complaint. It will be a closed session.

This newspaper has learned the protest, filed by Pioneer High Friday, resulted from alleged scouting violations Wednesday by three St. Paul assistant coaches.

Informed sources said that the Pioneer coaching staff discovered the St. Paul aides in a car scouting the Pioneer team practice.

Rev. Sylvester Ryan, St. Paul principal; Dr. Gerald Haines, Pioneer principal, and Pioneer football coach Bob Spindola declined to issue statements until the executive committee meets Monday.

"I would like to say only two things," said Father Ryan. "First, there will be no statement until Monday, and secondly, Mr. Ancich (St. Paul head coach Marijon Ancich) was not directly involved in the incident."

Father Ryan did confirm that the three St. Paul aides involved in the alleged incident have been suspended.

Dr. Haines remarked, "The only thing I can say is that we have filed a protest with the CIF. It's a scouting violation we feel very strongly about."

Spindola, preparing his team for Friday's contest, said, "We have been asked not to make any statement."

The executive committee is the controlling arm of the CIF. This is the first playoff protest since the committee overturned a Poly victory against El Rancho in 1964.

Kentucky and Tennessee square off for the right to play Maryland in the Liberty Bowl, and Brigham Young can nail down a Fiesta Bowl date against Oklahoma State by beating Utah.

Yale, the only unbeaten-untied team in addition to Oklahoma, Alabama and Michigan, seeks its first perfect season since 1960—and an outright Ivy League title—against arch-rival Harvard in Cambridge, Mass.

In the Big Eight showdown, Oklahoma, 9-0 overall, 5-0 in conference and rated No. 1 by The Associated Press, takes an 18-game winning streak and a 27-game unbeaten skein to Nebraska (8-2, 5-1), along with the country's highest-octane offense.

But, says coach Barry Switzer, "You beat Nebraska with defense, not offense. They shut down our offense pretty good anyway, so you have to out-defense 'em. We've got to eliminate their running game. They know they can throw.

"This is the biggest game we've played since we played 'em a year ago. No one we play has as much talent as Nebraska."

Oklahoma is on probation and ineligible for a postseason game, while Nebraska will be in the Sugar Bowl against Florida.

"This," says Nebraska's Tom Osborne, "is Oklahoma's bowl game. "Oklahoma obviously is one of the finest teams around in many years. Our objective will be to play a very complete football game and try to control the line of scrimmage as much as we can."

No. 5 Notre Dame faces the hardluck team of college football in the Air Force, which has suffered seven of its eight losses in the last minute by a combined total of 22 points.

Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian knows all about cliff-hangers, since his team needed fourth-period rallies to win its last two games.

"I told the squad after the Navy game that the gray hair on top of my head was a direct result of their waiting until the fourth quarter to win," Parseghian said. "Last Saturday, when we beat Pitt with three minutes left, I told them they were going to make me a replacement for Telly Savalas on Kojak."

14,000 to invade Forum this afternoon

Olivares, Arguello battle for feather crown

By RICH ROBERTS
Staff Writer

If Alexis Arguello survived the Nicaraguan earthquake, the U.S. Immigration Service and the Matterhorn ride at Disneyland, what has he to fear from Ruben Olivares?

"Well," says today's mild-mannered challenger to Olivares' World Boxing Association featherweight title, "he's the champion and there must be a reason he's there."

The reason is Olivares' wallop, which has stiffened 69 opponents in a 76-4-1 career, but it's not enough to sway 4,000 of Arguello's countrymen and Nicaraguan expatriates from the colony in the Bay Area who have pooled $100,000 to support their man at even money.

First bout on the rare afternoon card at the Forum — a Stevie Wonder concert is scheduled this evening — will be at 1. A total turnout of 14,000 is expected and all systems south of the border will stop when Olivares and Arguello step into the ring at 3.

The bout is being beamed by radio and television to Nicaragua, where USC playing UCLA won't even be a footnote. The day has been declared a national holiday in Nicaragua because the president, General Somozo, says so, and don't laugh unless you've got your own army.

It's the second crack at the crown for Arguello, who has scored 36 knockouts in a 38-3 career. The first was last February when he lost a 15-round decision to Panama's Ernesto Marcel in the latter's hometown, Panama City.

The decision was one of those commonly referred to as "disputed," but not too loudly, because Marcel had HIS army to back him up.

But Arguello's showing and a subsequent — uh, consideration from the Forum persuaded Marcel to retire so the Inglewood plant could slip Olivares into the vacancy by stopping Japan's Zensuke Utagawa in seven rounds last July.

It was Olivares' 14th fight at the Forum — it's hardly a "neutral court," with his Mexican legions behind him — but his first as an official featherweight.

Ruben enjoyed his previous success as bantamweight champion, but found that making the 118-pound limit often interfered with his more serious pursuits, such as Mexico's City's night life.

Still, it won't be hard to tell the two apart. Arguello is the tall one — five inches taller — but his greater size may be his undoing, as well.

In training, Olivares has appeared to be quicker and a sharper puncher, while Arguello hasn't shown an effective jab that would take advantage of his longer reach.

Alexis' life style is subdued compared to Olivares'. Married and the father of two small children, he tells how his wife's premonition of disaster probably saved his life when the killer quake hit Managua two years ago.

"We each had our own rooms," he says, "but this day she asked if I would stay in the room with her and the baby. Hers was the only room that stood up."

He may not be able to build a new house with his share of the $15,000 purse — Olivares is getting $85,000 — but a victory would be the greatest sports achievement in Nicaraguan history.

'Handle' in record WHR romp

Handle With Care, the brilliant three-year-old filly champion, paced to an incredible 1:54 4/5 mile at Hollywood Park Friday night to win the $59,1165 Western Pace in track record time.

Carrying 20-year-old Peter Haughton to the fastest victory ever by a filly, Handle With Care came within one-fifth of a second of Albatross' world record of 1:54 3/5.

The sensational daughter of Meadow Skipper returned $12.80, $5.40 and $4.20 while Braidwood paid $18.00 and $8.60. Otaro returned $5.60 to show.

The time of 1:54 4/5 shattered Adios Butler's 14-year-old Hollywood Park mark of 1:55 3/5.

"She has got to be the greatest filly in history," Haughton said following the race.

Handle With Care's fantastic mile smashed Tarport Lib's world distaff record of 1:56 2/5 and made the sophomore lass the fastest three-year-old in history. Albatross was a four-year-old when he set his world mark.

The win was the 19th in 24 starts this year for Handle With Care. She collected first place money of $266,624 to increase her season earnings to $226,274 and her lifetime total to $367,443. Handle With Care now shows 36 wins in 41 starts during her two-year career.

The 2:00 mile was the 93rd during the record-breaking WHR season.

CIF x-country qualifying at Mt. San Antonio

Athletes from 122 Southern California high schools will converge on Mt. San Antonio College in Walnut today for the CIF cross-country qualifying meet.

Eight races beginning at 11:30 a.m. and following at 20-minute intervals until 3:50 will determine the top 10 teams from each division for next week's finals, also at Mt. San Antonio.

Moore League champion Wilson and runnerup Lakewood, entered in the large school 4-A classification, are scheduled to run the hilly, two-mile course at 3:30 and 3:50, respectively.

The Bruins and Lancers must finish among the first five in scoring today to qualify for the finals. Also competing will be Mike Davis of Jordan, who won the Moore League championship from Joel Zaragoza of Lakewood and Don Johnson of Wilson a week ago in a near-deadheat.

49ers in NCAA finals

Long Beach State will enter a seven-man team in NCAA cross country championships Monday at University of Indiana. The team will be led by (from left) Jim Sweeney, Tomas Rodriguez, Mike Lundblad and Bob Wilson, LBSU's top four finishers in Pacific Coast Athletic Association meet last week.

L.B. State running at top 10 finish in nationals

Long Beach State dominated the meets it entered in the last half of the season, but coach Preston Davis declines to go out on a limb in discussing Monday's NCAA cross country championships at Bloomington, Ind.

"It is difficult to judge teams in cross country," explains Davis. "Unlike track or football or basketball, nothing is really the same from one cross country course to another.

"When you see times from the East you never know if they were running in the snow, or rain, or on a flat course or a hilly one."

The six-mile race will begin at 8 a.m. on the University of Indiana's golf course.

"Secretly, I hope we finish in the top 10," says Davis, coach of the only California university team in the meet, "but that will be difficult. Six of the seven kids on our team have never run in a meet like this and it's something you really can't explain to them. They have to experience it firsthand."

Davis has entered a team of Tomas Rodriguez, PCAA runnerup, Jim Sweeney, Bob Wilson, Mike Lundblad, Ken Phelps, Larry Greer and Lee Dick. Only Sweeney has run in an NCAA event.

"I'll jog the course with them and we'll decide how to run it. That is one area where I feel cross country coaches fall down," says Davis. "Most coach the kids all week and then put them in the race. If they win, fine, if they don't, fine.

"But not every kid can run a race the same way. You have to design a strategy that will allow each runner to utilize his particular talents—speed, good kick or strength. That's what we'll try to do."

Petty refutes an old theory

By ALLEN WOLFE
Staff Writer

ONTARIO — "Richard Petty never qualifies well."

That's been a long-standing rule of thumb in NASCAR Grand National stock car racing over the years — but not necessarily a correct one.

Friday "King Richard" disproved the theory as he cranked up his '74 STP Dodge to a speed of 149.930 mph to nail down the pole position for the $120,000 Ontario 500 Sunday at Ontario Motor Speedway.

If Sunday's race is anything like qualifying, it may well be the most competitive race ever held at OMS. The top five qualifiers Friday — Petty, Foyt, David Pearson, Bobby Allison and Buddy Baker — were within a stopwatch tick of each other in the 149 mph bracket and were separated by less than three-tenths of a second.

John Martin of Long Beach, a regular on the USAC Championship Indy car circuit, substituted for injured NASCAR regular Buddy Arrington and qualified 11th in a '72 Plymouth with a speed of 145.558 mph.

Thirty drivers qualified in Friday's first session for the last of 30 stops on this year's Grand National circuit, leaving only 10 spots remaining to be filled during today's second round at 9 a.m.

The Ontario 500 will be flagged away Sunday at 11 a.m. before an expected turnout of 50,000.

ONTARIO 500 QUALIFIERS

Baldwin tops Permatex 200 lineup today

ONTARIO—Ivan Baldwin, a hard luck loser in June, could score a vendetta of sorts today in the Permatex 200 late model Sportsman stock car race at Ontario Motor Speedway.

A field of 50 cars will start the 1 p.m. race, a $20,000 preliminary to the $120,000 Ontario 500 Grand National Sunday.

Baldwin, a four-time short track champion at Speedway 605 in Irwindale, charged from 25th starting position, only to finish second to lumber magnate Hershel McGriff of Bridal Veil, Ore., in the California 100 last June at Riverside International Raceway. It was a disappointing loss.

Not wanting to repeat his performance, the 30-year-old driver from Highland set a track record during last Sunday's qualifying time trials for the Permatex 200, clipping off a speed of 145.883 mph in his '68 Chevelle to wrap up the pole position. It broke the former record of 142.560 mph set by Sonny Easley in 1972.

1. Ivan Baldwin (Highland) '68 Chevelle, 145.883 mph; 2. Bill Spencer (Pomona) '64 Chevelle, 142.691; 3. Ron Esau (San Diego) '66 Chevelle, 142.579; 4. Bill Osborne (Pomona) '64 Chevelle, 142.438; 5. Lonnie Pebworth (Hacienda Heights) '73 Chevelle, 142.229; 6. Don Dowdy (Yakima, Wash.) '72 Plymouth, 142.121; 7. Hershel McGriff (Bridal Veil, Ore.) '69 Chevelle, 142.121; 8. Cliff Garner (Santa Monica) '70 Dodge, 141.725; 9. Bob Swietzer (Chatsworth) '69 Ford, 140.879; 10. Ray Johnstone (San Bernardino) '69 Ford, 140.807.

11. Joe Ruggles (N. Hollywood) '69 Mercury, 139.595; 12. Greg Schidecker (San Bernardino) '65 Chevelle, 139.418; 13. Hugh Pearson (Bakersfield) '66 Chevelle, 138.334.

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Aries (March 21-April 19): Get to the point early; decide how to best use your time. Straighten out whatever snags develop. Fresh contacts are intriguing and promising.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Be alert and effective in fulfilling your share of Sunday's customs. There may be many things to do for friends, family or relatives. Begin promptly and in good spirits.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Make your rounds bright and early. Catch up on the news of your community. Meet and welcome newcomers. Romantic thoughts occur.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Demands on your time are numerous. Remind others that you can't be in more than one place at once. Set your schedule fairly early, then stick to it!

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Expectations of your formal achievements prove higher than results. Technical and professional advice turns out to be more conservative than you expect, but is apt to be valid.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): It's quite all right if you do very little, but the difference is in how you do it and where it's directed. Check for areas of neglect, then remedy the situation.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Cheer up and make the best of it all! Disagreements needn't last—you can charm your associates into a pleasant mood. Share favorite pastimes with everyone.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Express yourself a bit more than usual, particularly where sentiment is involved. Lively social events are set into motion by almost any initiative from you.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Appeal to the intelligence of friends rather than to their sympathy. Be truly yourself, know what you want and seek direct approaches in getting it.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): It's more of a "stay home" Sunday. Invite old friends to your house or drop in on those less able to get out than you. Leave shoptalk out.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stick to familiar things and close to home base. Unexpected moments of strong feelings and opinions are indicated. It's easier to assume a general, impersonal attitude.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Don't make promises or trust the offers of others where money is concerned. Practically any reasonable approach is lucrative on this busy, pleasant Sunday.

Alien-smuggling held big-time racket

By ED ZUCKERMAN
Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON—Alien-smuggling has become a big-time racket along the Mexican and Canadian borders, a House subcommittee has concluded.

And in many cases narcotics are smuggled into the U.S. at the same time—a factor which has turned the normally routine job of a border inspector into a hazardous occupation.

Mexicans seeking to cross the border in search of better employment opportunities pay as much as $1,000 apiece for counterfeit creditials and transportation.

Chinese aliens who are funneled into the U.S. through Montreal pay as much as $3,000, often financing their illegal travel by selling brown rock heroin which is produced from Oriental poppy and manufactured in Hong Kong.

THESE claims are spelled out in a report drafted by the House legal and monetary affairs subcommittee, which has been investigating illegal aliens for two years. The report will be released to the public after it wins approval from the House Government Operations Committee.

The report contains numerous recommendations for expanding the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), described by the subcommittee as "grossly undermanned" and unable to cope with the ever-rising flow of illegal immigration into this country.

"The present antismuggling effort conducted by the INS is fragmented and ill-equipped to perform efficiently," the subcommittee said, recommending greater cooperation among federal agencies and modernized equipment for investigation.

AS AN example of cooperation, the subcommittee cited the team approach in New York City operated by the INS, the Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA), the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and the New York City Police Department—a task force which operates under the code name "Dragon boy."

"A typical operation conducted under the auspices of Dragon Boy will see members of all these various agencies participating together in a single operation," the subcommittee said.

"In one such operation, as subcommittee staff learned firsthand, a gambling house in the Chinatown section of New York City was raided, yielding illegal aliens for the INS, illegal gambling records for the IRS and gambling paraphernalia, untaxed cigarettes and other items of contraband for the New York City Police Department."

ACCORDING to testimony received by the subcommittee, as much as 250 pounds of brown rock heroin comes into New York City each month concealed in the luggage of illegal aliens. The narcotic commands a street price of $25,000 a pound.

One of the first smuggling operations cracked by the INS was controlled by Wong Gim Shek, alias Jack Wong, purported head of the Chinese underworld in Montreal. Shek is also suspected of being the head of the Communist Party in Canada.

"During the period that this smuggling operation was in pregress, approximately 40 Chinese aliens, who were smuggled into the U.S., were arrested and seven smugglers were identified. The actual number of aliens successfully smuggled into the U.S. through this operation may never be known," an INS official testified.

ALONG the Mexican border, aliens are smuggled into the U.S. in a variety of ways. They may be concealed inside a car or truck or they may be guided across the border somewhere along its desolate 2,000-milelong boundary. There is no fence along the border. In fact, only 26.9 miles of the border has chain-link fencing and, at San Ysidro, Calif., there is often a hole cut open in it. Other parts of the border are equipped with electronic sensors, but the INS hasn't enough manpower to investigate traffic signals.

"Very little care or attention is given to the safety or comfort of those persons who are paying up to $1,000 apiece for their illegal entry into the U.S. And occasionally there are reports of fatalities from suffocation or injuries inflicted in a collision," the panel said.

On both borders, the report said, INS agents have intercepted large tank trucks containing illegal aliens.

THERE have been reports that, in some cases, aliens were found standing in several inches of gasoline. Others, crammed into automobile trunks, have died of carbon monoxide poisoning, and their bodies were dumped on the side of the highway.

But it is big business, judging from indictments which have resulted from INS investigations.

In one such case, three persons were imprisoned for selling phony baptism certificates to help aliens establish the U.S. as their country of birth. They sold the certificates for fees ranging between $600 and $1,000.

In another case which sent three Texas residents to jail, phony marriages were arranged for fees ranging from $300 to $700 each (marriage to a U.S. citizen automatically gives permanent residence status to an alien). In each case, the same woman served as the bride, using another identity each time.

LIKE Chinese aliens who bring brown rock heroin, aliens and alien smugglers carry drugs across the Mexican border.

According to the INS's 1973 report, "Officers seized over 98 tons of marijuana valued at more than $19.6 million. Cooperative efforts between the INS and other agencies resulted in the seizure of 1,456 ounces of hard drugs (heroin, opium and cocaine) having an estimated street value of over $8.5 million and over five million dangerous drug pills valued at more than $1.1 Million."

Bodies of two men found in backyard grave near Tustin

The badly decomposed bodies of two men were found in a backyard grave near Tustin Friday after Orange County sheriff's investigators arrested three Santa Ana men on charges of conspiracy to commit murder.

Capt. James Broadbelt of the investigations division said Mike Sesma, 22, 1814 Hood Ave.; Mike Thompson, 23, 1001 Stevens Ave., and John Solis, 28, 3909 S. Alder St., were arrested at their homes between 5 and 6 a.m.

A 31-year-old Santa Ana woman identified as Berdell Thompson also was arrested but was later released. Broadbelt said he did not know if she was related to Mike Thompson and would not elaborate on her arrest.

The bodies, which apparently had been buried for about a year, were found at noon in a common grave about 5 feet deep in the backyard of a home in county territory near Tustin, Broadbelt said. He would not release the address.

He said the cause of death would not be known until a coroner's autopsy report is completed Monday. The bodies were clothed and appeared to be Caucasians about 20 to 30 years old, he said.

Broadbelt declined to say what led investigators to the bodies but he said the discoveries were made after an on-going investigation. One of the suspects once lived in the home where the bodies were found, he said, but he would not say which one.

Broadbelt did not comment directly on the fact that the arrests were made before the bodies were found, an indication that investigators had been told the location by someone with inside knowledge. "As you can see, it was a backwards investigation," he remarked.

Wife guilty of mate's killing in San Pedro

Ruby Jewel Davenport, 39, was ordered by Long Beach Superior Court Judge Pat Mullendore to return to court Dec. 20 for sentencing in the case.

Voluntary manslaughter carries a possible prison sentence of up to 15 years.

Mrs. Davenport had formally been charged with murder in connection with the knifing last May 12 outside Jack's Bar, 386 W. Sixth St.

The victim, 50-year-old Leroy Davenport, died of two stab wounds in the chest, one of which pierced his heart, a coroner's investigator testified.

Other witnesses who testified during the five-day trial, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Morrell, included Forine Crowe, sister of the defendant, and Mrs. Crowe's husband, Thomas Ogle.

Ogle told the court, under questioning by Deputy Public Defender Don Everett, that outside the bar, the victim pushed Mrs. Davenport and she returned the shove.

Moments later, according to police, Davenport was stabbed with a 4-inch knife.

Mrs. Davenport was arrested by highway patrolmen who chased a car at speeds in excess of 110 miles an hour and stopped it to find the woman was rushing her dying husband to a hospital, investigators said.

Jurors in the case began deliberations at 2:15 p.m. Thursday. The verdict was returned Friday morning at 11:15.

Double date for lawman

EL CENTRO (AP) — A half-hour after he is sworn in on Jan. 6 as sheriff, Leonard Speer goes to trial on felony perjury charges.

The trial date was set Thursday, but both Imperial County Superior Court judges have disqualified themselves from presiding. A judge may come from San Diego.

Speer, a lieutenant who was elected sheriff Nov. 5, is charged with lying at an inquest into the death of a county prisoner.

Speer will become sheriff at 9 a. m., and his trial was set to start at 9:30 a. m.

Field mice making dry run into rural elementary school

LIVERMORE (AP) — Dozens of small gray field mice are invading a rural elementary school here day after day, eating paper and crayons, distracting children and teachers.

"You really can't count them, they run through the room all day," said Rene Loudy, a first grade teacher at Green Elementary School on the eastern fringes of this Oakland suburb.

"On Monday I found 16 mice, Wednesday I found 12 and yesterday I found seven, including three inside the piano in Room 1," said Lewis Craft, chief custodian at the wood frame school built in 1938.

"They're just hungry and they're coming into the classrooms looking for something to eat," said Craft, who has been setting traps, spreading poison, and covering all the vents with screens in an effort to stem the tide. He said the invasion started in September but has gotten worse lately because of the unusually dry autumn.

Jason Som, Alameda County sanitarian who has investigated the problem, said the mice were not diseased and had not bitten any children.

Virginia Moniz, whose 5-year-old daughter Melody is one of 238 pupils attending the school, said she became alarmed about the situation after Melody brought home a dead mouse in her lunch bag.

"Besides distracting the class, the mice are destructive," Mrs. Loudy said. "They're into the crayons, chewing them up, and even nibble on the paper supplies.

"We had a substitute come out here on Monday who went home after she saw the mice and refused to come out here again," Mrs. Loudy said. "She just thought it was terrible."

Principal Mel Ashley said he was "doing as much as humanly possible under the circumstances. But there's no telling how many thousands are still out there."
